Article Would Require Town To License Shooting Ranges

By Frank Messina

The Board of Selectmen raised its "shooting gallery shield" Monday, supporting a town meeting article that would allow selectmen to reject a proposed gun club downtown.

Selectmen say the article, generated at their request, will protect the town from unwanted development downtown—specifically the shooting range developers Benjamin Osgood and G. Bradley Richards plan to build at 32-34 Park St. this summer.

With Chairman Gail Ralston abstaining, the board decided 4-0-1 to back the measure, which requires a town-issued license for shooting ranges.

The board also decided not to back another article that would authorize the town to spend $2 million to acquire the property by eminent domain.

Having expressed opposition at their last meeting, the selectmen looked at each other silently as Mrs. Ralston called for discussion. The board then voted unanimously not to support the measure.

Both articles were inserted into the special meeting agenda by the board last Friday.

Mr. Osgood's proposed firing range wasn't the only gun facility discussed in public hearings Friday and Monday nights.

The Lawrence Rod and Gun Club, currently not required to hold a license, expressed fears that future selectmen might restrict the club's activities.

At least one selectman, Gerald Silverman, agreed with them.

"I would hope we would not require these organizations to be held under (the proposed) regulations," he said. Because "the five people here (the board of selectmen) might not be here three years from now," Mr. Silverman said he will ask town meeting voters to exempt Lawrence Rod and Gun from the proposed license standards.

At Friday's meeting, one club member complained that his club was being caught in a battle between the town and the developers.

Ron Hajj of 22 Enmore St. said: "What bothers me is the tug of war that has been going on between Mr. Osgood and the town. It's definitely a power play."

Mr. Osgood's problems in Andover began last year when both the Planning Board and Zoning Board of Appeals refused to relax zoning bylaws for parking.

With his proposed change for the building's use from a bowling alley to a small retail shop plaza, the developers were required by the Planning Board to increase parking from the existing 12 parking slots to about 75 spaces.

It was the first test for the parking bylaws, enacted in 1984, which require that a new formula for figuring parking spaces come into play when a property owner wants to change the nature of a business.

Mr. Osgood and Mr. Richards are currently challenging the bylaw in court.

Town officials say the pending litigation has hampered efforts to negotiate with Mr. Osgood on other uses for the property.

The developers say they have asked permission to build for a wide variety of businesses, including a Chuck E. Cheese children's pizza parlor, a comedy night club and Marshalls department store.

Mr. Osgood has said he is losing thousands of dollars every month the building sits vacant.

For Chinese-Americans, A Tense Vigil

By Melissa M. De Meo

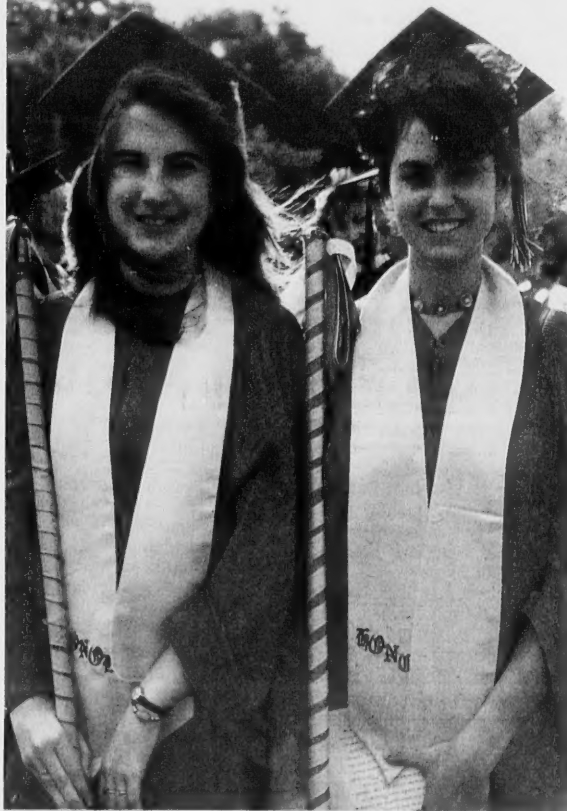

A scant four months ago, the Andover Chinese Cultural Exchange was planning festivities for the Year of the Snake. This week, the group has much more serious business on the agenda.

Their homeland teetering on the brink of civil war, Andover Chinese-Americans will meet to discuss what they can do to support the cause of democratic reform.

"We're going to find out what we can do to get public opinion to sway toward the struggle for democracy," said Stephen Liu of Peach Tree Path, ACCE's incoming president. "I think imposing economic sanctions is not fair to the people. China needs the economy to prosper. However, we need Senate and Congress attention. We should lay it out on the table: if they (Chinese government) do more damage to the process of democracy, we will take action."

Hundreds, maybe thousands, of people died in the bloodbath that ensued when Chinese troops fired on a crowd of protes-

Spirited Class Graduates

By Lisa A. Boudreau

The Andover High School graduates of 1989 have a lot to be proud of. Not only do they walk away from AHS with a diploma in hand, but they leave behind a newly formed tradition of community involvement, social awareness and heightened school spirit.

In September a community service program called Andover Community Service Education System began at the high school with modest aspirations. ACSES director Robert King hoped to get at least six students to volunteer their time at local organizations. By the end of the school year 58 students shared their time on a regular basis, working with groups ranging from Bread and Roses soup kitchen in Lawrence to the Andover Senior Center.

Chris McAnally, the senior class president, began the 113th commencement ceremonies at the Eugene V. Lovely Field Monday by commenting on the unique and distinct personality of the graduating class.

"The class of '89 has made a special contribution to Andover High School. We rallied together to bring back the importance of class functions," he said.

New Firefighting Pumper Arrives

Andover firefighters Ray Lynch, Ricky Dalton, John Senee and Lt. Lincoln Clark show off the fire department's newest addition: the fire pumper town meeting approved in April. The largest vehicle in the department's fleet, the two-week-old truck is replacing an older model.

Returning From Seminar On French Heritage

Tanya Hayward, a sophomore majoring in business administration and French at Concordia College in Moorhead, Minn., will return from Europe on June 8 after participating in a seminar called "French Heritage." She is the daughter of Christine Hayward of 25 Launching Road.

The seminar, led by French professor Dr. David Green, uses visits to Paris and Les Eyzies, a village of under 1,000 people, to discover the artistic, religious, political, economic and social structures of the French culture. Students also have three homestays, in which they are hosted by French families. Students use these opportunities to hone language skills and gain insight into French culture.

Students enrolled in the May seminars abroad program take preseminar classes during the second semester of the academic year. Taught by the faculty members who lead the seminars, these classes provide the academic background needed for the experience abroad, said college staff members.

A four-year liberal arts institution, Concordia is a college of the congregations of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, centered in north Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana.

Honored

Belmont Hill School recently held its annual Prize Day ceremonies to honor students who distinguished themselves during the year. Jason Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Tucker of Andover, was honored by the Red and Blue Key Society for contributing significantly to the athletic program by performing essential services of a non-athletic nature. He also received the French prize for outstanding work in French.

Utility Permits Approved

Permission was granted by the Board of Selectmen Monday night to allow the installation of poles and wires for the Massachusetts Electric and New England Telephone Cos. along public ways.

Two poles will be scheduled for installation along Wild Rose Drive.

'Pops' Concert Allowed

The Board of Selectmen agreed Monday night to allow an outdoor concert in the Park in front of the town office building.

The outdoor "Pops" concert, to be held July 23 at 6 p.m., is co-sponsored by Phillips Academy and the Andover Historical Society.

Block Parties OK'd

The Board of Selectmen voted unanimously Monday night to confirm the blocking off of streets for neighborhood parties.

Blocked off were Marland Street from 1:30 to 8 p.m. and Wolcott Avenue from 5 to 8 p.m.

DCS Plans Fun Summer

The town's department of community services is offering a variety of social, cultural, recreational and educational events this summer. Registration for these events takes place at the DCS office in the town offices building on Bartlet Street. Office hours are Monday to Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

DCS events include trips to Great Woods, Sunday, July 16; Basketball Hall of Fame, Monday, Aug. 7; Tanglewood, Sunday, Aug. 13; and to North Shore Music Theatre for West Side Story, Wednesday, Aug. 16.

Additional special happenings that do not require advance registration are the Hampton Beach shuttle, Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning Tuesday, June 27; and the town's Fourth of July celebration and block party on Tuesday, July 4.

Cookout Planned Thursday

The annual Andover Haven Associates cookout will be held on Thursday, June 15, at noon at the home of Suren and Eva Loosigian of 3 Blanchard Road.

Members are requested to bring chairs.

Childhood Center Conducts Screening Program

The staff at the Early Childhood Center and speech and instructional specialists from the school system have completed a three-day school orientation and screening program for more than 480 fall kindergarten students and new first-grade students. Three- and 4-year-olds were screened in accordance with state and federal mandates to identify children with potential learning problems.

Early intervention services are available through the school department for children from 3 years old up who experience problems such as learning to speak and to work with their hands. The range of services includes preschool classes at the Early Childhood Center. The classes also accept 3- and 4-year-old children to be normal models.

Parents may call ECC for a screening appointment. Eligible normal models are chosen by lottery each July for placement in the fall.

Warrior Basketball Coach Tom Ryser Resigns Post

By Rick Harrison

Tom Ryser never demanded more of his players than he was willing to give as their coach.

In a somewhat surprising but not totally unexpected move, the Andover High School boys' varsity basketball coach recently resigned after a successful six-year run with the Golden Warriors.

The up-front reason for Coach Ryser's decision was the by now almost cliché claim of wanting to spend more time with the family.

The 36-year-old Tewksbury resident is the father of a 3-year-old son, and he and his wife are expecting another child this summer.

Another factor that played a part in his decision was the obvious inconvenience of living in Tewksbury, teaching in Medford and coaching in Andover.

Mr. Ryser succeeded a local hoop institution, current high school Principal Wilbur Hixon, and maintained the same level of excellence that Mr. Hixon had brought to the program for two and a half decades.

Although unable to break the stranglehold Lowell and Central Catholic have had on the Merrimack Valley Conference large school division in recent years, Mr. Ryser guided the Golden Warriors to an overall 84-41 record, four Eastern Mass. Tournament berths, two Division 1 North semifinal round appearances and a Greater Lawrence Christmas Tournament title.

An outspoken disciplinarian and proponent of hard-nosed defense, Mr. Ryser's teams were characterized by their tenacity and aggressiveness.

He tried, at times unsuccessfully, to instill city instincts into his suburban charges.

Although he coached some outstanding individual players, including three Perry brothers (Tim, John, Matt), Mr. Ryser's teams were never blessed with outstanding height and consequently had to constantly adjust their game.

A noted clinician and lecturer, the former AHS hoop coach is also an expert on the art of ballhandling.

Mr. Ryser has not ruled out the possibility of coaching at a different school in the future, but only if a teaching job at the same school goes with it.

Andover athletic director Jim Hurley will begin the search for a new coach soon, hoping to fill the position by the end of the school year.

Mr. Ryser is the third Merrimack Valley Conference boys' basketball coach to resign after the 1988-'89 season, joining Andover resident Charlie Ryan (Lowell High) and Ed James (Billerica High).

Mr. Ryan lives a stone's throw from the high school, and his son Sean will be a sophomore guard on the Andover team next winter.

Handicap Permits Available

Driving endlessly around parking lots looking for a parking space can be frustrating, especially when a car without apparent handicapped-designated plates is parked right by the door.

Most motorists are not aware of handicap placards, parking permits, available to the disabled since 1986, and required to be displayed on the left dashboard.

In the three years since the first placard was issued to Mary Louise Burckhart, the originator of the legislation, 17,000 placards have been issued. Good for four years, a placard bears a picture of the holder, an ID number and the international symbol of access. It is transferable from one vehicle to another.

In addition to handicap plates and placards, vehicles displaying disabled veterans license plates may park in spaces reserved for the handicapped. Certification must come from the Veteran's Administration to obtain disabled veterans plates, as the disability must be service-related.

DCS Announces Program

The Department of Community Services' summer booklet was mailed to Andover homes last week. New residents who did not receive one may pick up a booklet at the DCS office in the Town Offices building on Bartlet Street. The booklet describes the variety of programs offered by the department.

This is the last booklet to be mailed to all Andover residents. Due to the high cost of printing and postage, the new mailing list will include only those who have registered for a program during the past 18 months, said DCS staff members. Anyone who has not participated during that time but wishes to receive a booklet can send the labeled section on the back of the booklet to the DCS office and their name will be added to the mailing list.

Registration for classes will be held Wednesday, June 14, from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Memorial Auditorium. Enter the building through the auditorium doors across from the Park only. Registration will continue each day at the Bartlet Street office from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. until classes begin the week of June 26.

Among the new programs scheduled are:

Paper Sculpture and Mask Making, a six-week class on Tuesdays at Doherty Middle School from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m., beginning July 11, for children ages 10 to 14. The students will explore working with paper and papier mache to create an animal or person sculpture and/or mask. Teacher Augusta Dadiego is back by popular demand.

Theater star Dennis Lorne returns to instruct two theater courses beginning July 1: Youth Theater-ages 12-20 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. and Adult Theater-ages 20 plus from 8 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Both courses will explore the many aspects of theater, including character development, improvisation, trust exercises and music appreciation, in a theatrical environment.

A trip to the Basketball Hall of Fame is scheduled for Monday, Aug. 7. The bus leaves at 8:30 a.m. and returns at approximately 5 p.m. Bring a lunch or buy it there.

The annual Hampton Beach shuttle bus will run Tuesdays and Thursdays for nine weeks, starting June 27. The bus will leave at 9 a.m. provided a minimum of 30 people are present by 8:30 a.m. Mandatory waivers can be picked up at the DCS office after June 12.

Tennis lessons for children ages 5 to 14 years old will be held Monday through Thursday at Recreation Park. The two-week sessions include instruction in all levels of play. Participants will be grouped according to age and must bring a racket. Rollerskating classes for children aged 5 to 15 will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, July 11-26, at the Rec Park court. Children will be grouped according to age. The course will offer instruction geared towards individual's ability. Students will learn new skating techniques, safety skills and group games. Skates with outdoor wheels are needed to participate.

For further information, call or visit the DCS office Monday through Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Show And Tell Over Coffee

By Virginia Lopez Begg

Show and tell is not just for the kindergarten set. It is also the subject of a popular program at the Andover Historical Society. Scheduled participants and visitors show interesting historical objects and tell their stories. A show and tell is scheduled for a morning coffee on Tuesday, June 13, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the society's headquarters, the Amos Blanchard House, at 97 Main St. Free to the public, coffee and refreshments will be served before the program begins.

An early 19th century fireboard will be shown. Charlotte Smith, director/curator, will briefly describe the story of fireboards, originally created for the utilitarian purpose of keeping birds and insects from flying into the house through the large chimneys of the time. Fireboards then became decorative and were painted and papered to enhance the appearance of a room. The Andover Historical Society owns two fireboards original to the Amos Blanchard House and discovered many years ago in a dovecote in the barn.

Other speakers include Ruth Sharpe on iron tools and objects and Ruth Sherwood on treasures found in a work basket. Visitors will find out about nannypins and sewing birds. Jan Henderson will show some country collectibles and Bernice Haggerty will delve into old books and the stories they tell. The rest of the program will be opened to anyone who has something special to share.

The program is organized by the morning coffee committee, including Barbara Loomer, Doris Newton and Mildred West as well as the above-named speakers. The morning coffee programs are a popular way of sharing some of the society's 12,000 objects in the house and barn museums in an informal way.

The represent the areas of decorative arts, costume, agriculture and animal husbandry. The Caroline M. Underhill Research Library and archives in the 1978 Suzanne Smith Purdon wing contain 2,000 bound volumes and 250 linear feet of manuscripts and photographs. Temporary exhibitions draw on these collections to highlight local historical topics and are mounted every year in the Cheever and meeting rooms.

Donations have kept the collections representative of the furnishings of the average person, spanning the time period from the 1640s to the present, with an emphasis on artifacts that have local histories of ownership or manufacture.

The Andover Historical Society provides many opportunities for students and adults, on an individual basis or in formal groups, to enrich their understanding of life in Andover.

R. Kingman Webster Honored At Worcester

R. Kingman Webster of Andover was one of seven Worcester Polytechnic Institute graduates who were honored by the school and its alumni association for "professional achievements and service to the college." The awards were presented at the annual reunion luncheon on June 3.

Mr. Webster was one of the recipients of the Robert H. Goddard Award. A 1954 WPI graduate, Mr. Webster is executive vice president of Blue Seals Feeds Co., formerly H.K. Webster Co., a wholesale and retail distributor of dairy and poultry feeds and pet foods, which was founded by Mr. Webster's great-grandfather in 1877. The sole distributor of Blue Seal feed for New England, New York and parts of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, the company employs 550 people and posts annual sales of about $80 million.

Mr. Webster joined the firm in 1957 as an assistant production manager, having earned his bachelor's degree in physics from WPI and after two years in the U.S. Army. He was named to his current position in 1972. He is a member of the President's Advisory Council.

The award he received was named for the 1908 WPI graduate whose pioneering work on liquid-fueled rockets made the Space Age possible.

Plastic Recycling Begins At High School

By Virginia Cole

Plastic recycling began in Andover High School June 1. All polystyrene plastic—trays, plates, coffee and dessert cups, knives and spoons from the cafeteria—will be recycled. Although the program has been in the works for some time, the company recycling this plastic, Plastics Again in Leominster, has not been ready to receive the recyclables until now.

Plastics Again is the first company in the United States (as far as we know) to do this kind of recycling. All plastic will be made into pellets and molded into various consumer goods, such as flower pots, insulation and plastic boards and posts which can be used for fences, decks and docks. Remember, this material will never rot.

Andover Recycling's Mrs. Joyce Ringleb, with the approval of Mr. Hixon at the high school, has been working on this program for several months. Thirty-four students, two teachers and Dave White, who will collect this plastic from the school every other day, went to Leominster with Mrs. Ringleb to tour this facility and more thoroughly understand the whole process. Plastics Again paid for this tour, answered all questions, distributed samples and served refreshments. They would like it known that other group tours are welcome.

The pilot program in the high school is run by the students with the support of Principal Hixon, Food Service head Mr. Barron and biology teacher, Mr. Cayot. Art teacher Mrs. McCormack has been of great help in the publicity necessary to make all students aware of their responsibilities to make this work. After each meal each student must separate their trays into a tray-stacking device, the plastic into one container and paper and garbage into another. The plan is to have this program continue in the fall and spread to other schools as soon as they are interested. The program will cut down the amount of trash to be disposed of from the school at no cost to the town.

Mrs. Ringleb has had complete cooperation from teachers, custodians, food service personnel and biology class students who are overseeing the work.

Newspaper and magazine recycling has been going on in the high school since March, supervised by the same group of biology students. Many teachers who do not live in Andover are bringing their newspapers and magazines.

IF YOU FEEL FORTUNATE YOUR CHILD JUST SMOKES MARIJUANA, THEN YOU SHOULD KNOW MORE ABOUT MARIJUANA.

Shall we start with the facts? Marijuana makes your child lethargic, apathetic and paranoid. That's frightening. But so is this: Marijuana also causes mood shifts. And it causes your child to lose his memory.

It gets worse. Marijuana causes a loss of motor coordination. Think about that next time your child drives the car home at night.

Had enough? No? OK. Marijuana affects your child's reproductive system as well. It decreases your son's testosterone level. It can even lead to infertility.

Your daughter's reproductive system can suffer, too.

With marijuana, unfortunately, come menstrual irregularities.

There's more.

Marijuana also does damage to your child's lungs. You think cigarettes are bad? Marijuana is far worse.

There are other effects that seem to show up with this "minor" drug: decreased productivity, absenteeism, impaired performance as well as impaired judgement and impaired learning capability.

Put it this way: It doesn't do much for your child's education.

If you'd like more information about marijuana or any other problem drug, contact your local agency on drug abuse.

College To Inaugurate Campaign

Merrimack College will inaugurate "Merrimack 2000" on Sunday, June 11, beginning with an 11 a.m. Mass on campus.

Merrimack 2000 is a plan initiated by the college to help ensure the excellence of the college's academic offerings during the next decade and into the 21st century. It will also ensure the continuation of Merrimack as an intellectual resource to the Merrimack Valley.

The immediate priority is academic facilities. The first project is an $8 million campaign for a new science and engineering center which will include laboratories and classrooms.

Except for the college's initial $1 million building campaign in May 1949, when hundreds of area citizens bought "bricks for Merrimack," Merrimack 2000 is the school's first capital campaign for classroom facilities.

Rev. John E. Deegan, O.S.A., college president, and Trustee Richard J. Santagati, Merrimack class of 1965 and national chairman of Merrimack 2000, will make a presentation for Merrimack 2000 at 12:30 p.m. in the college church.

The trustees decided to begin Merrimack 2000 with the construction of a science and engineering center because of the great national need for education in the sciences. "An insufficient understanding of science is a weakness in society today," said Mr. Santagati. "If this isn't corrected, it will have major ramifications upon our lives and the lives of our children and grandchildren."

Fr. Deegan said that such a center will address the national agenda of science "illiteracy" among American students at all educational levels. "We believe that the building of a science and engineering center will provide the college with the final resource it needs to seriously address that problem in this region."

"We intend that the building will be a magnet center for expanding the knowledge and understanding of science. In addition to the students of Merrimack, it will serve both the schools and industries of the Merrimack Valley," he said.

Members of the trustees' development committee have worked for the past six years to plan Merrimack 2000 and a good portion of the $8 million goal has already been pledged, according to Mr. Santagati.

The pledges have come from Merrimack graduates, trustees, the Order of St. Augustine (which administers the school) and other friends of the institution.

Trustees Julien Lacourse and Leo Flanagan (Merrimack class of 1958) were involved in much of the past planning for Merrimack 2000. Trustees who were members of the advance gifts committee included Mark Henry (class of 1966) and Laurence Palmisano (class of 1957).

For further information on the inauguration of Merrimack 2000, call Casey Coburn.

Marshalls Moves To Andover

Marshalls Inc., the nation's largest off-price fashion retailer, will begin moving into their new corporate headquarters in Andover on June 16. The new offices will unite the company's corporate employees, now located in Woburn and Wakefield, in 250,000 square feet of renovated mill space off of Route 495.

"As a rapidly expanding national company with centralized operations, we were looking for a space that would accommodate a range of needs," said Marshalls President and Chief Executive Officer Francis H. Arnone. "The Andover site offers us the quality space, attractive location and accessibility that we require. We have the highest expectations for our relocation to 200 Brickstone Square.

"In planning for our own growth, we were convinced that the future growth area will be north of Route 128," Arnone said. "The cost of leasing is certainly less expensive and the location offers a strong labor pool and affordable housing. The proximity to two major highways also was very important to ensure accessibility."

"The Andover site is in a more traditional New England environment with a better quality of life for our employees. For example, the location offers amenities such as on-site day care and a health club," he said. "Local shopping areas give our employees the ability to run errands at lunchtime."

According to developer Martin Spagat, president of Brickstone Properties, Marshalls is the first major consumer/retail company to move its headquarters to Route 495. He noted that the move may prompt other companies to consider Route 495 locations for office expansion or relocation.

The move places Marshalls' headquarters near the intersection of Routes 495 and 93. The transfer of all 850 corporate employees from Woburn and Wakefield should be completed by mid-July.

The Woburn office space will be converted into additional distribution center space. The Wakefield office space will be leased through Brickstone Properties.

Marshalls offers brand name and designer apparel and domestics for the entire family at prices 20 percent to 60 percent below regular department store and specialty store prices. Marshalls pioneered the field of off-price retailing in 1956 and continues to be the largest volume, most influential chain in creating awareness of how "brand names for less" can save consumers money. The company operates 318 stores nationwide and continues to open approximately 40 stores each year.

Marshalls is a division of Melville Corporation.

United Fund To Conduct Workshops

The Merrimack Valley United Fund is sponsoring a series of 12 workshops spread over the next two years as part of the organization's volunteer leadership development program.

The purpose of the program is to "improve the effectiveness of voluntary organizations by training community leaders as volunteer group leaders, to clarify the roles of a non-profit organization and to improve the managerial capabilities of the non-profit organization's staff," said Tracey Dewhurst, the Fund's public relations director. She said VLDP was started in 1978 with a grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation.

The workshop series, called "Board-WALK," is VLDLP's latest project, made possible by compiling old and new training materials, Ms. Dewhurst said. Board-WALK addresses human resources, finance, community relations, planning and organizational operations.

The program, which began in April, is attended by United Fund presidents and directors.

The two workshops scheduled for this year are Operational Strategies for Boards in June and Planning in October.

FORWARD INTO THE PAST

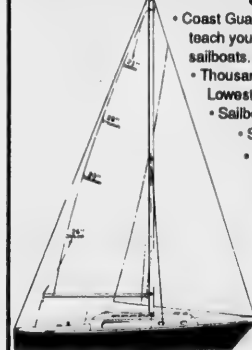

There are many people who like the romantic look of Victorian interior design but balk at its heavy, dark feeling. Those faced with this dilemma will be happy to know that today's Victorian revival is being interpreted in a lighter manner. In a color sense, this means that deep reds are giving way to brighter rusts. As for furniture, elaborately-carved wood pieces are yielding to bleached pines and pale colors. The large floral designs once found on wallpapers and draperies are being replaced by more linear, scaled-down patterns. Fringe now adorns pillows, not upholstery. Draperies may be held up by a straight brass rod rather than by tassels. In short, updated Victorian style is lighter and brighter than the original, but does not sacrifice romance in the bargain.

The design consultants at GORHAM'S DECORATING CENTER are ready to help you with your total decorating needs whether your tastes lean toward the romantic look of Victorian or to a much more contemporary feel. We look forward to playing a role in letting your imagination come alive and seeing that your dreams become a reality. Visit with us at 501 CHICKERING RD., RT. 125, 685-4870 so we can get to know each other. Master Card and Visa; Hours: Mon-Fri 9-6, Sat 10-5.

Museum Awarded IMS Grant

The Museum of American Textile History, 800 Massachusetts Avenue, North Andover, has been awarded a $72,289 grant from the Institute of Museum Services. It was one of 400 museums nationwide to receive 1989 general operating support grants which are provided to assist museums in supporting basic services and programs.

This year, 1,355 museums applied for these grants, awarded through a stiff competition that focuses on the quality of the museum's operations. Lois Burke Shepard, IMS director, says, "Grants under this program reward and showcase the highest quality museums in our nation. In this time of increased concern about educational attainment, museums play an exceedingly important role in supplementing the more formal educational system. They are unique forums for presenting and communicating our cultural, historic and scientific heritage to people of all ages."

The IMS general operating support award is based on the strength and quality of the applicant museum as demonstrated by its responses to application questions. The competition considers whether the museum's resources are managed so as to provide the best possible services to its community and the public.

Established in 1976, IMS is the primary federal agency responsible for supporting the basic operations of all types of museums. Examples of the variety of museums funded in the 1989 competition include Austin Children's Museum in Texas, Detroit Institute of Arts in Michigan, Mt. Pisgah Arboretum in Oregon, Spanish Point at the Oaks in Florida and New England Aquarium in Boston.

The Museum of American Textile History specializes in objects and information related to the production of textiles in America. Museum hours are Tuesday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Current exhibits are "Factory Labor: Shaping Work in America," featuring antique textile machinery in action, and "A Museum is..." a behind-the-scenes look at what makes a museum.

ABOUT OUR PEOPLE

Book Helps Foster Families Get Off To A Good Start

By Melissa M. De Meo

When Amanda Millay Hughes' neighbor asked her for a favor, it wasn't for a cup of sugar. She wanted Ms. Hughes to write a book.

Not just any book, but one specifically for children about to enter foster care. The neighbor was thinking about becoming a foster parent and asked Ms. Hughes, a writer and artist, if she "would do a book" to help allay children's fears about foster care.

"I said no," said Ms. Hughes, who now lives in Andover. "But she did research about the resources (for foster children), and there wasn't anything. There are books for kids in hospitals, adopted kids." But nothing for the child about to leave the home that, however abusive, is often the only one he or she knows.

And it's not easy. "A lot of these kids are facing something that's brand new," said George Cashman, area director of the Massachusetts department of social services.

To make that transition easier, Ms. Hughes did write the book her neighbor suggested. Where Am I?: A Young Child's Guide to Entering Foster Care appeared this year.

Ms. Hughes, who both wrote and illustrated the book, said she was "just trying to do something right." One of the goals of the book is "to help integrate the child into the family. The other is to open up communications. Ideally, it's an interactive tool. Hopefully, it makes them (children) feel safe."

Despite her good intentions and the apparent dearth of like material, Ms. Hughes had a hard time getting the book published. She sent it to her agent—to no avail. "I don't think he or most people want to admit that this is a problem," she said.

Ms. Hughes decided to take matters into her own hands. With an order from the department of social services, she and partner Michael Pope published Where Am I? on their own.

"I was thrilled with it," Mr. Cashman said. "And so was the commissioner (Marie A. Matava)."

The DSS is in the process of evaluating Ms. Hughes' book to see who should read the book and at what age. But there's an ample supply for the approximately 80 foster families in this area, Mr. Cashman said.

"Massachusetts is at the leading edge of what's happening in foster care," Ms. Hughes said. "They do a tremendous amount to validate what foster parents do."

"Foster parents take a lot of abuse from the press. There's a great misconception about foster care. Foster parents don't make a lot of money (from the state). The national average is $250 a month, which is not enough to feed and clothe a child."

Why would someone want to take in a troubled child who may not stay longer than a few months? "I think people do it essentially for altruistic reasons," Ms. Hughes said. "It occurs to them that they can do the right thing. And they get tremendous emotional payback from the children."

While Ms. Hughes says her lifestyle couldn't accommodate a foster child, she added that she's learned a lot about being one. And working on the book has given her a new perspective on an old problem.

"There are 2 and a half million kids in care in this country. That's a tremendous problem."

More and more children have to enter foster care because "there's been a dramatic increase in the problems that cause the removal of children," Mr. Cashman said. Divorce, drugs and alcohol are leading reasons why children may have to leave their home temporarily, sometimes permanently.

Ms. Hughes' book may help get families off to a good start, he said. "It's helpful for the foster families too because they haven't got a terrified little foster child coming into their home. That book dispels a lot of questions they (children) have in their mind, and it does so in a friendly and picturesque way."

Ms. Hughes got ideas from foster parents, children (including her own three) and therapists while she was working on Where Am I?. "Nobody will get mad at you if you take a long time to feel like this is your home," Ms. Hughes says in her book. "There is a lot to see in a new home. Where's the bathroom? Where's my bedroom? Do I have a Lunchbox?"

There are references to words that would sound foreign to other children: social worker, birth-parents, therapist and judge.

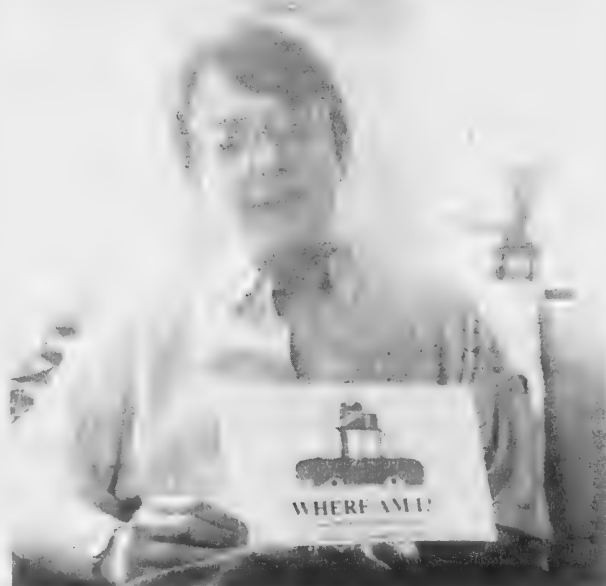

But the idea is not to alienate the young reader, Ms. Hughes said, but to help him or her fit in. She even had one of the lines in the book, "Every foster child is a good child," made into bumperstickers.

"I just want to raise consciousness," she said. "I want people to think that their child and the child next door and the child next door are good children."

Ms. Hughes has had a few orders from social workers, private placement agencies and the National Foster Parent Association, and she received a plaque for the book from the Massachusetts Association for Professional Foster Care.

A substitute teacher at a Newburyport day care center, Ms. Hughes is also working on two other books, one for children first leaving foster care and the other for disabled kids. "I am real busy," she said. "Who'd've thought that something so small from a neighbor could be important to so many people?"

For more information on how to get a copy or copies of Where Am I?, write to Candleyes Music and Press Inc., P.O. Box 1254, Haverhill, Mass. 01831.

Amanda Millay Hughes says the idea behind her book, Where Am I?, is to help new foster children feel safe.

Ex-Resident Wins Teacher's Award

Nancy Campbell Koza of Columbia, Md., former Andover resident, was recently presented with the Washington Post Agnes Meyer Outstanding Teacher Award for Howard County, Md.

Agnes Meyer, wife of Eugene Meyer, publisher of the Post from 1933 to 1946 and mother of Katherine Graham, chief executive of the Post, was a strong supporter of public education. The Washington Post established the awards six years ago in her memory because it recognized that "quality public education is essential to the health and vitality of a community."

The annual award honors one teacher in each of 15 Greater Washington local county school systems who exemplify excellence in education. The recipients are teachers who have shown dedication, initiative, creativity and an exceptional degree of professionalism and who care about and take pride in their work and students. The eight counties in Virginia, six counties in Maryland and the District of Columbia are represented.

Donald Graham, publisher of the Washington Post, presented the monetary gifts and specially-commissioned Steuben crystal apples at a ceremony and reception held at the Washington Post headquarters. Mrs. Koza, first-grade teacher and team leader at Phelps Luck Elementary School, Columbia, was chosen to represent the 46 schools in Howard County.

Mrs. Koza, a 1963 graduate of Andover High School, received a bachelor of arts degree from Olivet College in Michigan and master of science degree in education from Johns Hopkins University in Maryland.

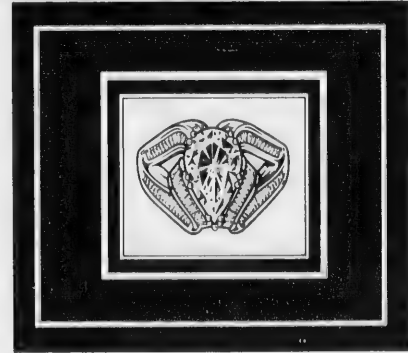

She not only teaches children, but participates in teaching teachers in school and countywide staff development programs and has been the staff representative to the PTA executive board since 1983. She has served on the building committee for Phelps Luck School for the past year and in the summer serves as a curriculum writer for the county elementary schools.

Mrs. Koza began her career as an elementary teacher at Atkinson Academy in Atkinson, N.H., in 1967 and taught in Salem, N.H., before her marriage to Frank Koza, Jr. of Andover in 1970.

Mrs. Koza spent a year as coordinator of needs assessment for Title I programming and two years as coordinator of a special needs program for students at the Great Falls Vocational-Technical School in Montana. She received a special com-

West Middle Students Have Whale Of A Time

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Last Thursday morning was gray and overcast. The sky threatened showers, and it seemed unlikely that a group of West Middle School students would be going whale-watching.

But the silver lining in the sixth-graders' cloud was their faith that the weather would clear. About 120 students and their teachers piled into three yellow school buses and made their way through the drizzle to Capt. Bill's Whale Watch Cruises in Gloucester.

The whale watch was the culmination of the West silver team's "Voyage of the Mimi" project. For the past year the team has participated in the science and mathematics program, which lets them explore the world of oceanography in a fun, new and different way.

Through videotaped portrayals, computers and maps, the students follow the progress of the Mimi, an actual whale research vessel, and its crew of young people. The program includes a series of videotapes that document the experiences of the Mimi and its crew, who sailed out of Gloucester a few years ago.

By the time the group arrived at Capt. Bill's the weather had cleared enough for the cruise to get underway. The would-be oceanographers were greeted by Mason Weinrich, a whale scientist and animal behaviorist from the Cetacean Research Unit. He told the students there was a very good chance that they would be seeing humpback whales because a great number had been spotted earlier that morning by local fishing boats.

The humpback whale's scientific name, Megaptera novaeangliae, means "big-winged New Englander." Mr. Weinrich has been working with the CRU and Capt. Bill for the past 10 years. He told the students he and his fellow researchers have identified and named over 575 individual whales that return to the area each spring.

The students learned that each humpback whale has identifying markings on its tail, flippers and throat, and just like human fingerprints, no two whale's markings are alike. On the cruise the sixth-graders had a chance to see typical whale behavior first hand.

They saw whales sounding, or deep diving; breaching, or jumping out of the water and crashing onto the surface; spyhopping, which is sticking their heads out of the water and looking around; lobtailing, tail slapping that usually precedes deep dives; flippering,

Above, one of the sights a group of West Middle School sixth-graders got to see on a whale-watching cruise last week. These humpback whales weren't too far from the boat the students were on. Curious and friendly, the kids got a good look at about a dozen humpbacks Thursday.

AHS Uses Creative Projects As Teaching Tool

By Richard Evans

Andover High School teachers have long employed a variety of teaching techniques and technology to enhance their ability to communicate ideas. They use team teaching, interdisciplinary approaches, computers, VCRs and even video laser disks. One method of teaching which seems to have gained popularity is the creative project.

Similar to a research project commonly used in most schools and colleges, the creative project gives students the latitude of bringing to bear on the subject their own unique interests and creative talents.

William Becker, head of the high school's English department, said many of the department's courses require creative projects.

"This is not something we settled on as a group policy. It has essentially evolved with a number of teachers over time," he said. "Teachers and students have found it a valuable and fun way to learn. And, in the instances of most projects, fun doesn't mean easy. It is not unusual to have students reflect that the creative project was the most difficult and yet rewarding activity of the entire course."

A number of creative projects appeared this spring in Memorial Hall Library as part of the Partners In Pride Exposition. The project assignments take many different forms but must have an integral connection with the course. Students frequently amaze their peers, teachers and sometimes even themselves with what they are capable of doing when they get fully immersed in a project.

"What impresses me a lot of the time is not only the quality of some of the work being done, but the incredible variety as well," Mr. Becker said. "Based on course material, we have students creating their own musical compositions, paintings, sculptures, videos and architectural models."

Other departments at the high school are also employing the creative project as an integral learning tool. Bob Lawson of the math department requires that students do a project based on the relationship between math and science.

"You'd be amazed at what some of these kids are capable of accomplishing on their own," Mr. Lawson said. "It gives them the opportunity to become the teacher for a change and to share some of their research and personal interests with the rest of the class."

A recent project for Mr. Lawson's pre-calculus class was presented by Steven Pouliot, a junior. His project on laser disk technology involved using posterboard diagrams, the blackboard, a Macintosh computer program and sample circuitry. The class and Mr. Lawson were taken on a Byzantine journey through the world of binary numbers and analogue systems.

Mr. Pouliot began by displaying a sample compact disk, which he then traced back to its essential physical elements. In a 40-minute oral presentation, Mr. Pouliot used a computer program to illustrate how the sound waves were converted into binary mathematics in order to be encoded on a disk. He explained how the binary code was scanned by a laser light, reconverted back to an analogue system and then transformed back into the crisp sound heard from the loudspeakers.

Wilbur Hixon, AHS principal, said he was pleased to see the efforts exhibited by so many of the students in their projects.

"Of course," he said, "creative projects are a teaching tool and like any other good thing, they can be overdone. So far, I think we are fortunate. We seem to have struck a good balance on the number of projects being done in the various departments."

"I also think it's great that the students are given an opportunity to express sometimes what they know instead of always being in the position of staff telling them what we know."

Mr. Evans teaches in the Andover High English department.

Andover High Senior Wins Quota Club Scholarship

Andover resident Steffanie Wilson has been awarded a $1,000 scholarship for her outstanding all-around achievement. The Quota Club honored Ms. Wilson and two other scholarship recipients at a recent meeting of the Greater Lawrence Quota Club, which is dedicated to the hearing- and speech-impaired and to community service.

Ms. Wilson, the seventh of 13 children, became a scholarship recipient for her scholastic achievement and determination to pay for her own college education just as her siblings have done. Throughout high school, she worked 20 hours each week, was captain of the Spanish academic bowl and earned a varsity letter in gymnastics. She graduated 12th in her Andover High School class this week. Ms.

Wilson is enrolled as a business major at Bentley College.

Chartered in 1935, the Quota Club is a non-profit, non-partisan, non-sectarian organization of executive, business and professional women. Its parent organization, Quota International Inc., was founded in 1919 and today consists of 14,000 members in 13 countries.

The top of the tower on the Empire State Building was originally intended as a mooring place for dirigibles.

Raytheon Exec Named Trustee

John P. Shanley, vice president and assistant general manager of programs at Raytheon's missile systems division, was elected to Merrimack College's board of trustees for a four-year term.

Mr. Shanley will become general manager of Raytheon's missile systems division in August and provide direction for more than 18,000 employees worldwide. Programs at the division include PATRIOT, HAWK, Stinger, Standard and AEGIS Extended Range Surface-to-Air missiles, Sparrow, AMRAAM, Sidewinder, Phoenix and AAAM air-to-air missiles and the Maverick air-to-ground missile.

Mr. Shanley joined Raytheon in 1956 and has held a wide range of positions, including program manager for the PATRIOT Air Defense Missile System and of the Saudi Arabian program office; assistant manager of tactical ground defense systems and improved HAWK program manager.

He is a member of the President's Advisory Council, past president of the Yankee Chapter of the American Defense Preparedness Association and state vice president of the Association of the U.S. Army.

A native of Rhode Island, Mr. Shanley graduated from La Salle Academy and holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of Rhode Island. He pursued graduate studies in electrical engineering at the University of Delaware and Northeastern University and is a graduate of the Raytheon advanced management program. Mr. Shanley was an army officer at Aberdeen Proving Ground's ballistic research laboratories before joining Raytheon.

ABC Founder Receives Award

William Van N. Washburn received the third annual President's Award at the Andover A Better Chance annual meeting last week. The plaque, presented by outgoing ABC President Michael Arthur, is awarded to a person who has given years of exceptional service to ABC.

Mr. Washburn is one of ABC's original founders and helped lead the capital fund drive that paid for renovation of ABC's house at 134 Main St. The program is host to 11 high school girls who attend Andover High School and live in the ABC house with a resident director couple and tutor.

Christine Watson, the current tutor, is leaving the program, and a new tutor is being sought for next year.

ABC's graduating seniors will attend Brown and Columbia universities and Oberlin College next year.

Pike Students Sing In Last Concert Of Year

More than 100 students in grades three to five at the Pike School performed in concert for parents and guests on June 1. The program contained music from the last seven centuries and marked the final performance of the year for singers in Pike's middle school.

Students at this level have music twice a week throughout the school year. Under the direction of teacher Carolyn Taylor, they perform at assemblies in school and for their parents twice a year. Thursday's concert included every student in the middle school.

PA To Host Forum On Education

The Phillips Academy class of 1944 will offer a forum on education during the school's June 9-11 reunion weekend. Speakers at the forum on Saturday, June 10, at 2:30 p.m. will be Ted Sizer, former PA headmaster who is a noted educator, author and professor of education at Brown University; retired academy director of admissions Josh Miner, the founding president of Outward Bound USA; E. Alden Dunham, one of the first group of academy teaching interns and current education program chairman at the Carnegie Corp. of New York; and Kendra O'Donnell, principal of Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire. The forum in Cochran Chapel is free and open to the public.

Dr. Sizer will speak on what has happened academically to elementary and secondary education in America since World War II and what changes would improve it. Mr. Dunham will address the capabilities of the American public school system to provide those changes that seem most important. Dr. O'Donnell will speak on the place of the residential school in American education.

John Morton Blum, an authority on American history and a 1939 Phillips Academy graduate, will lecture on "American Politics: Finis Origine Pendit" at 9 p.m. in Kemper Auditorium on Friday, June 9.

Dr. Blum, Sterling professor of history at Yale University, is the author and editor of numerous books, including The Pro- gressive Presidents (1980) and The Promise of America (1966).

The public is welcome at no charge.

lying on their sides and slapping the water with their flippers; and spouting, coming to the surface of the water and exhaling air.

Mr. Weinrich also pointed out some of the friendlier whales he has been studying for the past decade. Bilbo, an older female humpback, was spotted for the first time with her new calf. She was named after the J.R.R. Tolkien character from The Hobbit because of the white rings she has on her throat and flippers. They also saw Regulus, Bilbo's older calf.

Midnight, named for her predominantly black body, and her new calf were also stars in the impromptu show. Cutter, Iris, Ember, Dome and SOD (which stands for Scratches on Dorsal fin) made cameo appearances during the cruise. In all the students had a chance to view 12 whales.

"I didn't think that they would come that close," said student Tracie Grant.

Mr. Weinrich told the students they were indeed lucky. The cruises usually spot half as many whales, he said.

"It truly was a spectacular day out with the whales," he said.

Fifty-nine Andover seniors participated in Phillips Academy's 211th commencement exercises Sunday. The class of 1989 consists of 415 seniors, 63 of whom come from Andover, North Andover and Lawrence.

The graduation exercises began with an invocation by Rev. Richard Gross, PA's Roman Catholic chaplain. Seventy-one seniors were initiated into the Cum Laude Society, including Nancy Abramson, Jeffrey Chen, Jonathan Clough, Nikolai Gonzales, Jessica Hill, Pauline Koh, Stephanie Kuo, Mary Lim, Carolos Livadas, Marisa Murtagh, Heather Pottle and Sean Sullivan, all of Andover.

School president Alexander Walley of Fort Wayne, Ind., delivered an address reflecting on events of the school year, the benefits of a PA education and his thoughts on future challenges and commitment choices facing the graduating class. Acting Headmaster Peter Q. McKee delivered the headmaster's address which included a contrasting of Andover/Abbot past (founding years) and present.

Mr. McKee urged the graduates to work for peace and mutual respect of others.

Following the singing of Gaudeamus and a benediction from the Rev. J. Phillips Zaeder, Protestant chaplain, and Rabbi Everett Gendler, the class of 1989 marched behind the Clan McPherson Bagpipe Band to form a circle in front of the Addison Gallery and receive their diplomas. A reception followed.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Sometime during pre school, a child understands that money has value and can be used to obtain possessions. He or she doesn't know much about it and probably is not aware of the difference between a penny and a dime. By the age of four, most children know that two coins are more desirable than one coin, but they don't understand much beyond that. With the aid of television advertising — the child now begins to desire toys or other articles that appear on the screen or are seen in stores. It will be difficult for your child to comprehend why a toy can be bought one day and not another. You'll find yourself saying "No" a great deal during this period. Sooner or later your child will have learned that he/she can't have everything.

There is a complete assortment of baby needs available at TIMY TOTLAND. We feature famous makers including Simmons, Childcraft and Bassett. Over 80 cribs are on display. Ask about our lay-away plan, no extra charge. We feature wall decorations and many accessories. Babies toys, everything from "heaven to seven." Open 9:30 Mon. & Th. 9-9 delivery service anywhere from TIMY TOTLAND, 1111 Elm St., Manchester, N.H. 1-403-623-6171. "Where Quality Costs You Less"

San Diego

Robert L. Swain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Swain, Jr. of 24 Enfield Drive, graduated magna cum laude from the University of San Diego School of Law on May 20.

Mr. Swain received the Criminal Defense Bar Association Award for the "outstanding student in criminal and constitutional law who is committed to the preservation of individual rights." He was a member of the American Bar Association national trial competition team. Mr. Swain has taken a position with the federal public defender's office in San Diego.

The United States Great Seal with its famous eagle was designed and adopted in 1782.

FirstLine Home Equity Credit

You can borrow up to 75% of the appraised value of your home, less the balance due on your existing mortgage. The minimum line of credit is $10,000, and the maximum $100,000.

Our rates are reasonable, our terms flexible.

When, and if, you use your FirstLine Credit, the interest rate you'll be charged will be the Prime Rate published in the Wall Street Journal, plus 1½%.

Each month, you can repay as little as 1.75% of the outstanding balance, or a minimum of $25. Of course, if you choose to, you can repay more or even the full balance of your loan with no prepayment penalties. The principal payments will be automatically reccredited to your FirstLine account, so they'll be available for use again. And so you'll have an up-to-date record of all your transactions, we'll send you a detailed monthly statement.

Apply for FirstLine today, by stopping by any of First Essex nine convenient locations. Or, if you'd like additional information, just call (508) 681-7500. And talk to First Essex where you always come first.

* Your line of credit, with no fees or closing costs, will be based on the tax assessed value of your home. If you'd like to apply for a higher line, there'll be an appraisal fee.

Where you always come first.

FirstLine Home Equity Credit is a handy and convenient way to finance major expenses. It provides you with an automatic line of credit you can use to pay for a new kitchen, a college education, debt consolidation, or even a new car.

You're first with FirstLine.

FirstLine can work to your advantage in a number of ways. There are no application or processing fees. * With the new tax laws, it's one of the few consumer loans which may still allow you to qualify for a tax deduction. You can write your own loan whenever you want using your FirstLine checkbook. And once your credit line has been approved, there are no additional forms to fill out, no questions asked, and no bank approvals needed.

Here's how FirstLine works out for you.

If you own your home (1-4 family owner-occupied home or condominium), you may qualify for FirstLine even if it was financed through another bank or mortgage company. And if you already have an equity line somewhere else, it can be easily transferred to First Essex for more convenient one-stop banking.

Answering Questions About Pumps

By Cynthia Givens

The days grow longer, the sun hotter and suddenly summer has arrived. Kids are out of school and people search for a place to cool off or get some sun. The public bathing facility in Andover is a well-hidden pond known as Pump's. Questions often arise concerning the water in the pond.

What is the source of water in Pump's Pond?

According to Everett Penney, Andover Public Health officer, underground springs provide much of the water for the pond. Other sources are run-off from neighboring land (Pump's is situated at a lower elevation than almost everything around it) and runoff from the Shawsheen River.

What causes the water's color?

The bronze color is probably caused by two things, according to Eileen Flaherty, town conservation agent. One would be iron fines in the surrounding soil, which then run off into the water, and the other would be the eutri-phication of algae in the water.

Algae are tiny plants which grow in and take oxygen out of the water. Extremely temperature dependant, algae will grow especially thick after a string of very hot, humid days.

What about water quality?

Mr. Penney stated that the pond is tested weekly for growth of algae and bacteria. When the level becomes unacceptable, the pond is closed and treated. Usually a day or two of treatment or a change in the weather takes care of the algae and the pond can be reopened.

Fuller Gardens, 10 Willow Avenue, North Hampton, N.H., will be open to the public June 10. The two-acre state of former Governor Alvan T. Fuller provides the setting for an all American rose display garden, Japanese garden, wildflower walk, perennial borders, hosta garden, annual hedges and sculptured hedges designed in the Colonial-Revival style in the 1920s by landscape architect Arthur Shurtleff with additions in the 1930s by Olmstead Brothers. The Fuller Conservatory exhibits a variety of tropical and desert plants. They are open daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. through October.

Chorus Announces Audition Schedule

The Treble Chorus of New England announces auditions for its fall season in the major ensembles: the Youth Ensemble, for the inexperienced young singer whose voice is unchanged; the Treble Chorus, for the older and more advanced singer whose voice is unchanged; and Madrigal Singers, for boys' changed voices and adolescent female singers. All auditioners must attend Singers' Workshop, the summer home of the Treble Chorus of New England, Aug. 15-18 from 8:45 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Each day at Trinitarian Church in North Andover. The music camp will conclude with concerts on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 18 and 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the church sanctuary. Singers may attend camp without joining the fall music program.

The Treble Chorus of New England is a professional group of boys and girls ages 8 to 16 singing a wide repertoire of classical music, both sacred and secular. The chorus sings in seven languages and their concerts have included works by Bach, Britten, Purcell, Vivaldi, Faure and Gilbert and Sullivan.

The Treble Chorus has made appearances at Great Woods, Symphony Hall, Jordan Hall and MIT with some of the major professional music companies in Boston. Twenty-five members competed in the National Adjudicators Conference in Washington, D.C., singing in the concert hall of the Kennedy Center, and took best in class for community choruses.

Next year's season will include the world premiere of a new work by Minnesota composer Libby Larson with the Indian Hill Orchestra and a work in progress for Christmas by artistic director Marie Stultz, entitled the Aungel Gabriell. The Treble Chorus will perform in the New Music Festival at Harvard in October and conclude the season with the Mozart Requiem at the Methuen Music Hall. The choirs' annual Christmas concert will be the official concert in celebration of 15 years of fine concerts at St. Mary's Church in Lawrence.

The Youth Ensemble is available to children ages 8 to 14 who are artistically gifted and interested in music and particularly in singing. The choir sings in three languages and has appeared at the State House, Japanese consulate and participated in the critically acclaimed performance of La Boheme with an international cast, the Indian Hill Orchestra, Paul Gay conducting, at Merrimack College. Audition appointments with Mrs. Stultz need to be made within the next week. The first rehearsal begins Tuesday, Sept. 12, at Trinitarian Church in North Andover from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The Treble Chorus of New England is available to boys and girls ages 11 to 16. This ensemble requires artistically gifted singers who have an interest in music and have had some experience with music performance. The Treble Chorus has sung at the State House for Governor Michael Dukakis, for the Japanese consulate, prepared performances of the Faure

Requiem and the opera Dido and Aeneas by Henry Purcell and at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. They made T.V. appearances on the "Good Morning" show and "Show of Faith" and have been selected to participate in the Contemporary Music Festival at Harvard next fall. The first rehearsal begins Tuesday, Sept. 8, at Trinitarian Church in North Andover from 6:20 p.m. to 8:15 p.m.

Female members of the Madrigal Singers are selected from the Treble Chorus through the regular membership. Young men whose voices have just changed and would like a challenging experience in choral singing are selected through audition. The first rehearsal begins Tuesday, Sept. 19, at Trinitarian Church in North Andover from 7 p.m. to 8:15 p.m.

Acquires Subsidiary

Raytheon Co. announced that an indirect subsidiary has successfully acquired approximately 96 percent of Standard Havens Inc. in its cash tender offer for the Kansas City-based asphalt production manufacturer.

The company said its depository agent reported that 3,992,477 shares of Standard Havens, including 805,843 shares subject to notices of guaranteed delivery, were tendered by the expiration of the offer at midnight May 22. There were 4,159,549 Standard Havens shares outstanding.

Raytheon's indirect subsidiary, Asphalt Acquisition Co., has accepted for payment all shares validly tendered at the offering price of $3.58 per share. The company anticipates completing the transaction within the next two weeks.

Raytheon said the acquisition will complement the product line of its Cedarapids Inc. subsidiary, a manufacturer

Max Miller To Give Concert At Music Hall

Max Miller will give a concert of works by Boston composer/organists Wednesday, June 14, at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall, 192 Broadway.

Mr. Miller is university organist and chairman of the organ department at Boston University's School of Music. He is a past dean of the Boston chapter of the American Guild of Organists and was general chairman for the 1976 A.G.O. national convention in Boston. He currently serves on the guild's national committee on profession, education and certification. He has recorded for Boston Records and the Musical Heritage Society.

At the Music Hall concert, Mr. Miller's program will consist of works by Horatio William Parker, who was organist for the Church of the Holy Trinity; John Knowles Paine, chapel organist, Harvard University; Arthur Foote, First Unitarian Church; Daniel Pinkham, King's Chapel; Everett Titcomb, St. John the Evangelist; and John Cook, Church of the Advent. The works were composed between 1864 and 1953.

On Wednesday, June 21, the Rev. David F. Gallagher will present a special scholarship recital.

Memorial Music Hall was built 80 years ago for the "Great Organ." "This building is perhaps the only example of a hall of such proportions built for the sole purpose of housing an organ," said Betty M. Couilliard, the hall's publicity chairman.

Performance Series Planned

Christine Brown, Outreach coordinator at the University of Lowell Center for the Arts, announced the schedule for the 1989-90 SMARTS performance series.

Students Meeting the ARTS is an outstanding series of high-quality performing arts experiences for school children in grades K-8.

The series opens Friday, Oct. 20, with A History of Jazz for grades 6-8 performed by the Jazz Pops Ensemble. Narrated by Lowell Sun entertainment writer Nancy Tuttle, the program explores jazz from its roots—blues and African rhythms—through ragtime and Dixieland to swing, bebop and modern jazz.

On Friday, Oct. 27, the 32-piece Indian Hill Symphony Orchestra will show students in grades 4-6 how a piece of music is put together with Musical Building Blocks: Constructing Music from its Elements. Using segments of familiar music, the orchestra will invite audience members to mix-and-match the musical elements—to combine and recombine melody, harmony, rhythm and dynamics to make their own musical compositions.

Theatreworks USA presents Footprints on the Moon for grades 4-6 on Friday, Nov. 10, an imaginative musical review that captures the first landing on the moon.

Popular children's books come alive with colorful costumes, unusual props and live music in Play Ball, Amelia Bedelia for grades K-3 on Wednesday, Nov. 15. Children will recognize their favorite characters from The Story of Ferdinand Days with Frog and Toad and Amelia Bedelia. Theatreworks USA present a musical adaptation of The Velveteen Rabbit for grades 2-4, the classic story about a stuffed animal that comes al-

THE SOCIAL SIDE

Bosia-Carnes

Melissa Page Carnes and Joseph William Bosia were married April 22, 1989, at West Parish Church in Andover by the Rev. Joseph W. Du, the church's senior minister.

The bride is the daughter of David and Jean Carnes of 25 Bailey Road, and the groom is the son of Joseph and Marilyn Bosia of Tewksbury.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Melinda Carnes of Andover as maid of honor. Her bridesmaids were Mary Curran of Malden, Laura Roche of Haverhill, Ramona Wiscarva of Dunstable and Lisa Smith and Robin Savoy, both of Andover.

Michael Bosia of Tewksbury was the best man. Robert Busser of Woburn, Robert Roche of Haverhill, David Carnes III of Andover, Barry Garnick of Derry, N.H., and Kevin Barry of Tewksbury were ushers.

Music during the ceremony was provided by organist Robert Scholten, oboist Roxann Nickerson, soloist Ron MacFarlane of Kent, Conn., and the West Parish Church Choir.

Following a reception at the Indian Ridge Country Club, the couple took a wedding trip to Disney World in Florida.

The bride graduated from Andover High School and the University of Lowell. She is an accountant at

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bosia

Parent, Kiley and Naffah in North Andover.

The groom, a graduate of Tewksbury High School and U Lowell, is a sales engineer at Seattle Silicon Technology in Andover. They live in Haverhill.

'Victory Gardener' To Give Presentations

Bob Thomson of WGBH's Victory Gardener will present two programs at the Hammond Castle in Gloucester Saturday, June 10.

The 11 a.m. program, "Annuals and Perennials," will focus on a slide presentation of dos and don'ts, followed by a question-and-answer session.

Announcements

Wedding and engagement announcement forms may be picked up at The TOWNSMAN offices, 89 N. Main St.

They must be typed or printed clearly and accompanied by a telephone number.

Pictures, preferably black and white, are welcomed. They may be picked up after publication. Engagement photos must be of the woman only. Photos of the couple may be used with wedding announcements.

The TOWNSMAN prints these announcements when space is available.

A box lunch will be served at 12:30 p.m. on the oceanside lawn. A slide presentation on container gardening will start at 2 p.m.

Reservations are required for the box luncheon. For reservations, call Barbara Calnan in Andover or Chris Towle at Hammond Castle.

Government Wants 'Couch Potatoes' To Get Fit

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Fitness is becoming a national pastime.

Almost 10 years ago the U.S. Department of Health predicted that by the year 1990 the nation would be in better health. The government's goal was for more than 60 percent of adults, ages 18 to 64, to participate in vigorous physical exercise programs by the end of the decade. According to the 1980 report, benefits of regular exercise include reduced risk of coronary disease, improved ability to maintain desired weight and reduced symptoms associated with anxiety and mild to moderate depression.

Recently released data suggests that 80 percent of Americans still do not exercise regularly. Studies indicate that half the people who start an exercise program will quit within six months. Of those who drop out, one out of two will quit between signing up and the first session.

Staff members at the Rolling Green Fitness Center in Andover who participated in a recent "Commit to Get Fit" program, said their goal is to make more people from Andover aware of the benefits of regular exercise, said club manager Nancy Damon.

"The more people we can get started locally in exercise programs, the (more) hopeful we are that the end result will be a healthier nation," said Ms. Damon.

Rolling Green's staff of accredited trainers and certified aerobics and dance instructors, along with other clubs and fitness professionals around the country, volunteered their time to do fitness evaluations and create personalized exercise programs for people interested in improving their health.

About 65 joggers and walkers participated in the three-mile Predicted Time Challenge sponsored by the fitness center. Three Andover residents were top finishers in the race, predicting their finishing times within seconds.

In first place was Hector Pattullo, who predicted his finishing time within two seconds. Bea Pattullo and Kay Erler tied for second place by predicting their finishing times within three seconds. "Everyone had a great time. We definitely want to do this again next year," said Ms. Damon.

For the time being the government and other researchers are updating data in an effort to establish revised objectives for the year 2000.

Here is some practical advice from health care professionals and exercise researchers to help tip the scales in your favor for the upcoming new decade.

The recommendations include developing a specific plan, setting realistic goals, using reliable equipment to avoid exercise-related injuries, enlisting the support of others, varying your routine to prevent boredom and upgrading your program to incorporate progress.

Couple Plans May '90 Wedding

Margaret Par'e of Haverhill announces the engagement of her daughter, Leslie, to Kenneth J. Nollet, son of Claire M. Nollet of 329 River Road and the late Henry E. Nollet.

Ms. Par'e will graduate from Northern Essex Community College on June 15.

Mr. Nollet, a 1982 graduate of Andover High School, is a world class and professional skater. He works at World Skate Center in Enfield, Conn.

The couple plans to be married May 12, 1990.

Haspel's pinfeather cord suit is an American tradition.
For years it has been the businessman's
choice in a summer suit. Known for its style and comfort, the Haspel pinfeather cord suit is lightweight and fully washable. You'll look and feel as crisp and cool at sundown
as you did at sunrise.
Come in today and see why it's still Haspel - after all these years.

Alan M. Atwood

Alan M. Atwood, of 153 North Main St., died June 1, 1989, at the Holy Family Hospital of renal failure. He was 32.

Born and raised in Lawrence, Mr. Atwood worked at Plycraft in Lawrence and was presently working at Malden Mills.

He was a member of St. Augustine Parish of Andover and was a Vietnam veteran, having served in the Coast Guard.

Members of his family include his mother, Mrs. Shirley A. (Chetson) Michalovich of Salm, N.H.; his father, William A. Atwood Sr., of North Andover; sisters, Donna M. Atwood of Andover, Mrs. George (Deborah) Lemay of Salem, N.H.; Mrs. Joseph (Shirley) Ballantoni of Sandown, N.H.; a step-sister, Earlene Croteau of Lawrence; brothers, William A. Jr., of Layton, Utah, Paul G., of Andover and John J. of Londonderry, N.H.; grandfather, Mathew C. Chetson of Methuen; grandmother, Mrs. Rose Michalovich of Salem, N.H., and several nieces, nephews, aunts, uncles and cousins.

A Mass was held Monday at St. Augustine Church in Andover. Burial was at St. Augustine Cemetery.

Florence Green

Florence (Reynolds) Green of Woburn, formerly of England, died suddenly June 5, 1989, at Lawrence General Hospital. She was 76.

Born and raised in England, she was the daughter of the late Thomas W. and Susan (Connete) Reynolds. She moved to the United States three years ago after the death of her husband, Frank Green.

She was the mother of Kenneth A. Livermore of Andover and Chatham; Patricia Kelly of Montreal, Canada; and Anthony W. Livermore of Woburn. Members of her family also include a brother, George Reynolds of London, England; sister, Susan Heath of London; and grandchildren, Roy Kelly of Canada, Penny Livermore of Centerville, Glenn B. and Scott D. Livermore, both of Andover, and Jason A. Livermore and Ginette and Russell Johnson, all of Woburn.

Relatives and friends are invited to a funeral service Friday at 11 a.m. at the Edgerley and Bessom Andover funeral home, 33 Pearson St. The Rev. Joseph LaDu, senior minister of West Parish Church, will officiate.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Shriners Burns Institute, 51 Blossom St., Boston, Mass. 02114.

Raymond P. Haskell

Raymond P. Haskell of 167 North Main St. died June 1, 1989, at his home. He was 68.

Born in Deer Isle, Maine, Mr. Haskell had worked at Raytheon in Lowell for 10 years. He was a member of the Andover Lodge of Elks.

Members of his family include his wife, Florence L. (Campbell) Haskell; daughter, Judith A. Townsend of Lawrence; sisters, Mrs. Frank Cooper of Boothbay Harbor, Maine, Mrs. Randall Pert and Winifred Haskell, both of Deer Isle, and Mrs. William Hardy of Stonington, Maine; a brother, Roland Haskell of Boothbay Harbor; three grandchildren, Patty Laughner of Salem, N.H., and Wendy and Tracey Townsend, both of Lawrence; two great-grandchildren, Jessica A. and Daniel Laughner, both of Salem, N.H.; and several nieces and nephews.

A funeral service was held Saturday at Burke Funeral Home in Andover. Burial was in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, 853 Main St., Tewksbury, Mass. 01876.

Daniel L. Moriarty

Daniel L. Moriarty, 76, of 9 Chestnut St. died June 1, 1989, at Lawrence General Hospital.

Born in New York City, he was a retired lieutenant with the New York City Fire Department. He was also a member of St. Patrick Church in Lawrence.

Members of his family include his wife, Alice A. (Kelly) Moriarty of Andover; daughters, Mary Moriarty and Brenda Welber of Bradford and Elizabeth Buckheit of Salem, N.H.; two grandchildren; sisters, Helen Bayer of Port St. Lucy, Fla., and Virginia Willis of Fort Pierce, Fla., and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass was held Monday at St. Patrick Church. Burial was in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Mary E. Sayer

Mary E. (Hird) Sayer, 80, of Salem, N.H., died May 28, 1989, at Holy Family Hospital in Methuen.

Mrs. Sayer was born in Salem and was a life resident.

Members of her family include sisters, Martha Shorten of Brockton and Betty Richardson of Andover; nieces, Marion McCarthy of Brockton and Jean Johnson of Vermont; nephews, John Hird of Melbourne, Fla., William Hird of Maine, Thomas Richardson of Andover and James Richardson of Southborough; and several grandnieces and grand-nephews.

A memorial service was held Wednesday at Pleasant Street United Methodist Church, 4 Pleasant St., Salem, N.H.

Contributions may be made to Pleasant Street Church Food Pantry Fund, 4 Pleasant St., Salem, N.H. 03079.

George K. Durant

George K. Durant, 51, of 3 Belle Haven Drive died June 4 at his home of complications of a heart condition.

Mr. Durant was the treasurer and co-owner of Techprint, Woburn.

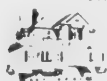

Born in Brighton, he was a member of St. Robert Bellarmine Church and the Knights of Columbus, No. 1078. Mr. Durant attended Northeastern University, and served in the United States Coast Guard.

Members of his family include his wife, Pauline (Desrochers Cole) Durant of Andover; sons, George K. Jr. of Lawrence, Eric J. of Lawrence and Todd C. of Lawrence; stepdaughters, Kathleen Cole Geary of Lowell and Colleen Cole Kaiser of Lowell; a brother, Paul J. of Andover; seven grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass was celebrated Wednesday in St. Robert Bellarmine Church. Burial was in St. Mary Cemetery, Tewksbury.

Town Manager Pushed Meeting Petition

By Frank Messina

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony has said he was the main force in moving a petition that forced a special town meeting to deal with a proposed downtown shooting range.

Although Mr. Mahony says he didn't organize last month's petition drive, when phone calls started proposing "off-the-wall" petitions that included mandating eminent domain takeover of the property, he was prodded to take actions that included:

- Contacting a bond counselor in order to write a legal petition. "It looked like there was going to be three or four petitions that might have been conflicting," said Mr. Mahony.

- Contacting the business community. Mahony said he called Janet Wallace, president of the Andover Center Association, to gauge downtown merchant's response to the volatile situation. The town manager's call led to Ms. Wallace circulating a petition at her business.

- Phoning Andover state Rep. Susan Tucker to inform her of the Zoning Board of Appeals decision May 16 that opened a path to developer Benjamin Osgood's plans to build the shooting range at 32-34 Park St. Rep. Tucker, a noted anti-gun legislator, later contacted Andover resident Walter McKetrick, who also helped gather signatures.

The town manager said he mentioned the possibility ty of a special town meeting to Rep. Tucker, but didn't ask her to circulate petitions.

"I guess you could say I was the prime mover," he said. "I didn't plan it that way."

In retrospect, Mr. Mahony says he made a mistake in judging reaction to Mr. Osgood's statement in a May 18 edition of The TOWNSMAN that he would start building the shooting range in the immediate future.

"I think I misread the situation. Looking back, I think the parties were too disused" to gather enough signatures to force a special meeting, he said.

"I don't think anyone can say I have hidden anything," said Mr. Mahony. "If I had felt strongly, I would have signed (the petition) myself."

Board of Selectman Chairman Gail Ralston said she felt Mr. Mahony now "realizes it is more appropriate for the selectmen to consider a special town meeting."

Selectman William Downs said the town manager "may have overstepped his bounds a little bit. It bothers me to the point that without his interference, we wouldn't have a special town meeting coming up."

Although Mr. Mahony was not officially reprimanded, Mrs. Ralston said the selectmen have expressed their displeasure to him.

Angry Residents Say Arts Group Limits Public Access To Collins Center

By Lisa A. Boudreau

An agreement between the Andover Endowment for the Arts and the School Committee, outlining the uses of the J. Everett Collins Center, doesn't seem to be doing an adequate job. According to angry citizens at the committee meeting Tuesday night, TAEA has been treating the Collins Center as its own private fiefdom.

Committeeman Richard Hubbell said his phone has been ringing "off the hook" with calls asking how can community groups get access to the auditorium. "There is a broad-based suspect that fewer people derive benefit from the Collins Center than actually should," he said.

The discussion at the meeting was primarily designated as an information gathering session to receive comments and plan a strategy for developing a formal contract for use, said School Committee chairman Margo Tilghman. But it soon became apparent in the heated hour-and-a-half exchange between the committee, TAEA President Gerald Cohen and audience members that the meeting was a platform for citizens to vent their frustration over what they claim is the monopoly of the Collins Center.

High rental fees, charged even to non-profit, community organizations, was one of the major issues discussed. Mr. Cohen maintained that the fees were justified to maintain the integrity of technical theater equipment at the Collins Center.

"You (TAEA) have a communication problem with the town," Mr. Hubbell said.

Donald Robb of 36 York St., a member of the Collins Center building committee said the three original purposes of the center have not been met in order of their importance:

- An auditorium for the high school;
- An auditorium for community groups;
- An auditorium to attract outside professional entertainment companies.

"The town has been poorly served," said Mr. Robb.

He went on to say TAEA has been the nucleus of the Collins Center and that that was never the intention.

Virginia Cole of 268 Highland Road, also a member of the building committee, told the School Committee members they should rethink the purpose of the center when they draw up the new contract.

"You should look very thoroughly at your philosophy, at what you want this building to do for the community...not just to bring one-night stands of tired old

Doherty To Dedicate Field To Teacher/Coach Boudreau

The Doherty Middle School baseball field will be officially dedicated to Ted Boudreau on Wednesday, June 14, at 6 p.m.

There will be a brief ceremony, including the unveiling of a picture plaque on a large stone in the late teacher and coach's honor.

An alumni baseball game will follow the ceremony immediately. Pitted against each other will be this year's varsity team and a group of graduates of the Andover High School baseball program.

The alumni squad will consist of many former players of Mr. Boudreau, who directed no less than 30 teams during his three decades of affiliation with the Andover program.

Mr. Boudreau coached the Andover High varsity team for five years (1959-'63), then devoted the next quarter century to freshman baseball as he became a springtime fixture at the field that is now to be named in his honor.

Any of Mr. Boudreau's former players who are interested in participating should contact Andover High athletic director Jim Hurley at 470-3800, Ext. 369, as soon as possible.

Town Landmark Torn Down

By Lisa A. Boudreau

An Andover landmark has gone the way of many like it. Last Thursday saw the beginning of the end for the Shawsheen Manor building, most recently known as the Courtyard Restaurant. The following day the demolition was completed, and when the dust settled all that remained was a pile of timber and bricks.

Shawsheen Manor has been on North Main Street for almost 200 years. The main building, later to become the Manor, was believed to have been part of the Frye family farmstead. It was built in 1796, by Theophilus Frye, grandson of the founder of Frye Village.

The building has seen numerous additions, renovations, owners and uses over the years. Between 1825 and 1921, the building was everything from a mansion to a rest home to a hospital.

William Wood, developer of Shawsheen Village, made it an inn, which he named the Shawsheen Manor. Its 40 sleeping rooms accommodated visiting executives. The building has mainly functioned as an inn or restaurant in the past 60 years.

In 1979 the Manor was listed along with 275 other village buildings on the national Register of Historic Places. Like many other buildings with historical significance that are privately owned, register status didn't protect the Manor from being torn down, said Barbara Thibeault, curator of education at the historical society.

Phil Salamone of 9 Carisbrooke St., president of the Shawsheen Neighborhood Association, said the register listing has limited effectiveness when it comes to preserving Shawsheen landmarks.

"It's a double-edged sword. It gave recognition to Shawsheen, but it doesn't give local enforcement," he said.

Only if state or federal money is involved does the register listing have any bearing, Ms. Thibeault said.

Speculation that the building might be demolished began long before Jim Chongris of 9 Wescott St., owner of the Courtyard Restaurant, failed to petition the town for a liquor license renewal in January.

Mr. Chongris said he had mixed feelings about closing the restaurant and demolishing the building that had been part of Shawsheen for so long.

What's in the future for the site of the old Manor is anyone's guess. Mr. Chongris says he has no immediate plans to erect anything in its place. Rumors ranging from a mini-mall, a new hotel, to expanded parking have all been circulating. But, according to the building inspector's office, no permits to build on the site have been applied for or granted.

Some students found the Pike's field day events too easy, so they created their own challenges. Here, Mike Sullivan clears the hurdle he and his friends set up.

Students run a practice race as they wait their turn in the three-legged race.

As her classmates look on, Paige Heller makes her way through the obstacle course.

OPINION

The Irony Of It All

It seems a bit ironic that while an Andover landmark building remains in controversy, another is reduced to dust.

Selectmen this week set up a special town meeting to allow voters to act on regulations which could prohibit the former bowling alley building on Park street from becoming a shooting gallery.

But, a few days prior to Monday's meeting of the board, the town was powerless to prevent the demolition of the former Shawsheen Manor property in Shawsheen.

As for the shooting gallery, voters will be asked at a special town meeting on June 19 to adopt new bylaws which govern where such activity is permissible. There is some concern that such organizations as sportsmen's clubs may be affected by adoption of such regulations but possibly there is sufficient time to work out details.

Currently there are sportsmen's clubs in West Andover and in the Harold Parker State Forest where those interested in such activity can pursue their avocation safely and away from the general public as well as commercial or residential neighborhoods.

One of the important things the selectmen did Monday night was to recommend against purchasing the bowling alley property for $2 million as petitioned by voters in the community.

It has been said here before, but bears repeating, that the town does not need to become involved in rescuing developers or becoming landlords. It is the municipal obligation along with that of the developer to negotiate in good faith to work out an adequate solution and permit private enterprise the opportunity to utilize the property.

Indeed, such is possible.

As for the Shawsheen matter, it was most unfortunate to see the Manor dropped to rubble in a short period of time last week.

The building was an Andover institution for over a century, was a part of William M. Wood's dream village and prior to that a farmstead operated by the Frye family for whom the village was originally named.

While there is no control over such things, it would have been in the interest of the community for the owner to consult with the town prior to its demolition.

There was initial indication that something would be done with the property when licenses were not renewed by the owner, James Chongris, the first of the year.

There had been rumors of what the property may be used for, such a mini-mall and an auto dealership.

But, suddenly within a matter of hours, the building became a pile of rubble and a part of Andover's history lay in a pile, only the large trees which graced the entrance giving any evidence of what was once a bustling hostelry catering to executives during the height of the textile industry in the area and to many visitors since the woolen business left the area.

With no controls over such matters, a property owner can do what he wishes with his building.

But it is unfortunate there was no advance warning or some effort at preservation of the old structure, which certainly, based on similar projects, could be adapted to proper use.

A card from Dr. Hancroft in Germany says he has engaged a passage on the Pavia, Liverpool for Boston, July 25. Although this is a private note, we print an extract to show how the Townsmen regarded in Europe.

"I have missed two or three copies for April, so that I haven't a connected account of town meeting, water, light, etc. The Townsmen is a surprisingly good paper! How much there is in it! Those ice advertisements are immense! I read all the news, all the items, all the 'ads.'

Just A Thought

By Bob Finneran

Theater, or the entertainment business, is difficult at best.

It takes long hours of preparation and dedication before making it to the stage for any length of time, as most everyone knows.

Thus, it was a pleasure on a recent evening to visit the Bradford House in Haverhill for their dinner theater presentation featuring performers from the Boston Conservatory of Music, some faculty, others either students or graduates, who perform two 45-minute segments of wonderful entertainment.

Talking to one of the performers, who together are known as 'The Show Mates,' makes one realize what a difficult business the entertainment field is, since he mentioned that he graduated from the conservatory a year ago and was still hopeful of making the big stage somewhere, sometime.

But, for the present, they appear satisfied to put forth a good performance of show tunes for the enjoyment of dinner guests beginning at 7:30 p.m.

They set the stage and then proceed to provide a fine collection of music from various Broadway shows.

All of the performers showed professional artistic talent. And assuredly others in the dining room found certain tunes more to their pleasing than others, but the ones that appealed to this diner more than others were 'Trouble,' from Music Man and 'Danny Boy,' belted out eloquently by Neil Donahue.

Other Show Mates include Kevin McGlynn, Mahi Marrett and Christine MacInally, with Richard Malcolm on drums and Elizabeth Brant at the piano.

After setting the stage and performing, they will be around in the lobby to converse with those interested, which makes for an enjoyable evening.

They're due to be around for a couple of more weeks, anyway.

Well, the maternity ward is open again in the front yard.

The Norway spruce currently contains at least two families of robins, possibly three sets of nesting purple-throated finches and apparently a pair of mourning doves.

And, just to make sure that the house is not completely barren of fine-feathered friends, a pair of robins decided to nest in a hanging ivy geranium over the front door.

Probably, based on current insurance coverage, they weren't covered for Norway spruce medical care.

Congratulations

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

What a wonderful Memorial Day parade! It was fun to watch and also an honor and very moving to view the Medal of Honor winners proudly march in Andover's Memorial Day parade as well as all the groups who gave of themselves to help make so many people's holiday a success.

Congratulations to the committee who so wonderfully put Andover's Memorial Day parade and observance together.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Dorothy M. Winn

The Department of Community Services program booklet was mailed last week. All Andover residents should have received their booklet by now. If you did not receive a booklet, call 470-3830 and ask for the Department of Community Services. This will be the last booklet mailed to all residents due to the high cost of printing and postage. Anyone registering for a course this summer will receive the fall program booklet. If you will not be taking a course, but would like to receive the fall booklet, you must contact the Department of Community Services Department.

Registration for summer classes and activities at the senior center begins Wednesday, June 14, at 10 a.m. and ends Friday, June 23, at 4 p.m. Classes and activities include lazy exercise, morning stretch, needleart, a trip to Quincy Market, film series and more. Be sure to check the Elder Affairs division listing in the DCS booklet for details.

Carolyn Mattedi's needleart class will run for six weeks, beginning Monday, July 17. The cost is $12 for Andover seniors.

The Andover Historical Society will present a program on A Living History of Andover on Friday, June 16, at 10:30 a.m. See how homemakers, farmers, printers, shopkeepers and a firefighter lived and worked in the 1820s. Coffee and donuts will be served.

Line dancers will awnt to pick up a list of Andover senior center dance parties. Chet Hardden and his big band sounu will provide the music and luncheon or dinner will be served.

The annual volunteer recognition dinner will be held Thursday, June 22, from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. Enjoy a boneless breast of chicken dinner and entertainment for only $6. Tickets are on sale through June 19 at 4 p.m.

Other scheduled parties include a pizza party on Wednesday, June 28, at 12 noon; Hawaiian Luau on Tuesday, July 18, and Italian Festival on Thursday, Aug. 17. The cost is only $3. Tickets are on sale now.

The Council on Aging is looking for an experienced volunteer to coordinate and escort senior center trips. The volunteer will enjoy working with people and have the necessary experience to insure the success of the trips. Although there is no salary, you will receive free passage on trips. Anyone interested should apply at the senior center.

Participants in the senior center lunch program should watch their mail for a lunch program survey. Those who return their surveys by Friday, June 16, will receive a coupon for a free lunch during July. This survey seeks your input to guarantee that the Andover senior citizens lunch program is offering the meals you want.

Any Andover resident, age 60 or older, is eligible to participate in the lunch program. Nutritious meals are served every Monday through Friday, except holidays, at the senior center for only 50 cents.

Gets Award

The Massachusetts Audubon Society received the prestigious Chevron Conservation Award in recognition of almost a century of commitment to protecting the Massachusetts' environment.

"These people represent an unbroken commitment to conservation and symbolize the very best in our society. Through their work, which often goes unnoticed, the quality of our environment and the quality of life have been improved significantly for us all," said Ed Zern, founder of the conservation awards program.

The Massachusetts Audubon Society, founded in 1896 by a group of women concerned about the killing of wild birds for the millinery trade, is the oldest conservation organization in New England. The society operates 17 staffed nature centers and 60 unstaffed wildlife sanctuaries, maintaining 18,500 acres of open space for more than 500,000 visitors annually.

HOME and GARDEN

Choosing Proper Insecticides Important

Last year, insects and weeds wreaked havoc in your yard. This year you've vowed to protect plants and lawn. The question still remains—to spray or not spray—what will work best?

If you've decided to do it yourself, you'll have to choose the proper insecticide, herbicide and fertilizer. Ask yourself:

Have you had recurring problems? Do certain insects prey on your plants? Are various weeds common to your geographic area? Now, consider how many square feet you really need to cover.

You're now ready to compare products and packages at the local lawn and garden store.

The most difficult decision to make is whether to buy liquid products and spray or buy dry products, which can be spread. Liquid sprays come in various sizes and application forms. Pre-mixed sprays often hook right up to the hose for applying. Generally available in quart-sized containers, these liquids combine pesticides with fertilizers. Dry, granular products are also available as fertilizers with weed and insect control.

When properly applied, liquid pesticides offer good control, but too often they're not used correctly. The first rule to remember is that liquids can not be used on a windy day. The danger of drift increases dramatically with wind. Even on a mild day, the chances of accidental spray reaching the wrong plants remain high.

Spray drift from an insecticide or herbicide can inadvertently land on pets or other people. Often the spray is pulled into air conditioning ducts, which affects the air quality of the home.

Determining the amount of liquid necessary presents a common problem. Often burning increases with sprays for two reasons. First, it hard to tell if an area has been sprayed, which increases the chance of crossing over and covering the same area twice. Second, many people believe if a little is good, a lot is better. Unfortunately, this axiom can be harmful in the case of insecticides or herbicides.

Dry products are easier to measure and apply. Generally heavier than liquids, granular particles sit on the soil surface and can be seen, so over application and drifting are less likely to occur. Dry insecticides and herbicides also are diluted by rain and slowly absorbed into the ground. Normally found in timed-release form, dry products offer better long-term control.

Weed and feed products are often a better economical value than straight sprays. For example, a quart container of liquid fertilizer/pesticide claims to cover 5,000 square feet at a cost of approximately $8. Although the quart contains enough pesticide for 5,000 square feet, it in fact only contains 1/10 the amount of fertilizer recommended by the Fertilizer Institute. Dry fertilizer/weed and insect control products do cost more initially, but they can cover 5,000 square feet.

Preventing Garden Pains

With the first hint of warm weather, gardeners begin to anticipate such long-awaited activities as pruning shrubs, spading the garden plot and toting bags of peat moss. But these activities can lead to an assortment of aches, pains and strains.

"A sedentary winter can leave you susceptible to injury from spring gardening activities," warns Jonathan Singer, D.O., an osteopathic general practitioner. "Back pain is one frequent result of a sudden increase in activity."

One way to prevent back pain is to take a cue from athletes and engage in pre-season exercises to stretch back muscles and strengthen abdominal muscles. "An easy exercise is the 'pelvic tilt.' Lie on your back with your knees and your feet flat on the floor. Then flatten the small of your back against the floor and hold for a count of ten," explains Dr. Singer. "Another good exercise is to lie on your back with both legs flat on the floor. Then raise one knee at a time to your chest and hold for several seconds."

Insulation Beneficial In Home

Over the past several years, millions of Americans have learned how easy it is to insulate their attics and help save on home cooling and heating costs. Many of these individuals are interested in learning where else in their home they can insulate by themselves.

Experts at the CertainTeed Home Institute suggest crawl spaces. There are two general methods for insulating crawl spaces and picking the correct one depends largely on the type of crawl space. Both can be insulated in several easy steps. Spring, with its warm temperatures and cool breezes, is the perfect time for this home improvement project.

If the crawl space contains cooling and heating equipment, ducts or water pipes and is well enclosed, the Home Institute recommends insulating the crawl space walls. This helps create a comfortable area under the living quarters and helps protect equipment and pipes from damage caused by heat and cold.

If the crawl space is open to the weather or if there is no reason to heat it, the experts recommend insulating the subfloor overhead. This helps keep the floor of the living quarters above cool in the summer and warm in the winter and makes them more comfortable.

To insulate crawl space walls, you'll need work gloves, hammer and nails, several precut pieces of 1x2s and 2x4s, heavy duty staple gun, utility or serrated knife and rolls of kraft-faced fiber glass insulation. Cut pieces of insulation long enough to cover the wall and overlap the floor by two feet. Fasten to the subfloor with 1x2s. Cover the entire wall, laying each piece of insulation firmly next to the one before it with the kraft-facing toward the open area. Then place 2x4s along the insulation at the base of the floor to hold it in place.

To insulate crawl spaces subfloor overhead, you'll need work gloves, protective glasses and mask, fiber glass batts or rolls, chicken wire and heavy duty staple gun or light gauge wire and hammer and nails.

By installing optimum amounts of insulation, usually R-19, you'll be helping to cut back on cooling and heating costs, saving valuable energy dollars and making your home more comfortable.

Preventing

Another way to dodge back injury is to stretch before beginning to shovel. Dr. Singer suggests this shoveling technique: "Grasp the shovel near the blade and bend your knees slightly to ensure your legs and not your back do the lifting. Only lift as much as you comfortably can. Alternate throwing between your left and right sides to help protect your back."

"Craning your neck upwards for long periods, such as when you are pruning, can strain muscles and tendons. Always use a ladder when reaching high overhead. Turn the ladder so your body is square to the object for which you are reaching and hold your head in a neutral position."

Dr. Singer also cautions against turning at the waist while lifting an object. He suggests keeping the load in front of your abdomen and doing the turning with your feet. If a load is very heavy, break it up into smaller loads.

A little muscle pain and stiffness is natural after the first work day in the yard. According to Dr. Singer, icing can offer relief for sprains, strains, torn ligaments and general muscle soreness. "To ice an injury, apply a plastic bag containing cubes or crushed ice. Don't apply the ice for more than 20 minutes at a time or increased swelling may result. Once the swelling is down completely, heat can help relieve tense muscles and joint stiffness. Apply moist heat with hot towels or baths or apply dry heat with heating pads or lamps. Remember not to apply heat for more than 25 minutes at a time.

These spring training tips should help you to enjoy gardening with a minimum of aches and pains.

Softball Team Completes Season

By Rick Harrison

The young Andover High girls' varsity softball team played four very competitive Merrimack Valley Conference games over the final two weeks of the 1989 season, including an 11-7 victory over Billerica and a pair of tough losses to Haverhill (9-8, nine innings) and Wilmington (10-6 on six-run sixth).

The Lady Warriors also dropped an 8-3 decision to Lowell and a 16-0 verdict to powerful Dracut.

AHS finished the campaign with three victories in 20 games, but only twice in the last 15 was Andover out of contention. Eight of the losses came by four or fewer runs, two of them in extra innings.

"I think we could be a spoiler and surprise a few people next year," said coach Pat Thomson. "We have a lot of underclassmen and we played better than our record. The hitting came around the past few games, and a bad sixth inning is what beat us against both Wilmington and Haverhill."

Andover led Wilmington 5-4 entering the sixth, but the Wildcats were able to score six runs (four unearned) to pull it out.

Capt. Cara Workman had Haverhill shut out for five innings, and the Lady Warriors carried a 6-0 lead into the bottom of the sixth before the Hillies struck for seven runs.

Andover regained an 8-7 advantage in the top of the seventh, but Haverhill tied it with a run in the bottom half and won it by pushing across the winning tally on a bases-loaded, two-out single by Lisa Vekos in the bottom of the ninth.

Game Results

Lowell jumped to a quick 6-0 lead after two innings at West Middle School, and the Lady Warriors never recovered.

Senior Alison Burke smacked a two-run single, Darlene Prochniak laced two singles and stole three bases, pitcher Cara Workman had a single and Tricia Doyle singled.

A four-run Andover fourth gave the locals a 5-4 lead over Wilmington, but the six-run sixth put the Wildcats ahead to stay.

Michelle DeStefano contributed two hits and two RBI in the game, Nicole Ricci lashed a two-run single, and other basehits were by junior shortstop Lisa Foresta, Jenn Butt and Cara Workman.

The Lady Warriors' 11-7 triumph over Billerica in stifling heat began a two-game, 27-hit explosion as the winners collected 13 safeties in this one.

The victory also enabled Andover to sweep the season series against the Indians, the first encounter a 16-11 AHS win.

The locals snapped a 4-4 tie with consecutive two-run innings in the third and fourth, then wrapped it up with three runs in the top of the seventh.

Nicole Ricci paced the attack with 3-for-5, Sarah Little contributed a double, single and two RBI, and both Lisa Foresta and junior Andrea Duffy added two hits and two RBI apiece.

Cara Workman was the winning hurler, and other basehits came from Darlene Prochniak, Michelle DeStefano, Alison Burke and Maura Everett.

Andover scored three runs in the first, two in the second and one in the sixth to grab a seemingly safe 6-0 lead against Haverhill.

The Hillies' seven-run sixth led to the exciting seesaw finish, Haverhill's 9-8 win in nine innings going with a 9-7 decision over AHS earlier this spring.

Nicole Ricci and Michelle DeStefano led a 14-hit assault with four safeties apiece, Ricci driving home three runs and DeStefano two.

Darlene Prochniak doubled and singled for two runs, junior catcher Sarah Little had two hits, and other singles were drilled by tough-luck losing pitcher Cara Workman and Tricia Doyle.

Playing well defensively for Andover against both Billerica and Haverhill were centerfielder DeStefano, shortstop Lisa Foresta and catcher Little.

Named To Conference All-Stars

By Rick Harrison

A number of Andover High athletes have been named Merrimack Valley Conference All-Stars in their sports.

Earning All-Conference honors in baseball were senior pitcher-second baseman Steve Surette and senior third baseman John Glynn.

Surette finished the regular season with a 4-3 record, pitching the majority of the crucial games for the Golden Warriors, and his three-year career record at AHS is a sparkling 18-8.

The upcoming Eastern Mass. Tournament will give Steve an opportunity to reach the coveted 20-win plateau, a milestone rarely achieved by high school players.

Glynn sustained a .400 batting average throughout the entire season, leading the MVC for most of the year and finishing around the .450 mark.

Both Surette and Glynn were also selected from Andover to play in the annual MVC All-Star Game last Monday night in Lowell.

The Andover softball team did not place anyone on the All-Conference squad, but had senior pitcher Cara Workman and sophomore Darlene Prochniak picked as league All-Stars.

In boys' tennis Jeff Hechemy won his second consecutive MVC Most Valuable Player Award, and joining the senior No. 1 singles standout (55-1 in league play for his career) on the All-Conference squad was the doubles' team of senior Scott Clementi and junior Mike Tiberii.

Undefeated league champ AHS also dominated the second team with sophomore No. 2 singles player Chris Chiang (27-1 in league play over two years), senior No. 3 singles player Peter Kannam and the doubles tandem of senior Rob Labell and senior Steve Gack chosen.

'Ghandi'

The Peabody Museum of Salem at East India Square, will present "Gandhi," winner of the 1982 Oscar for best film, on Thursday, June 22, at 7 p.m. in Bartlett Gallery in the Asian Export Art Wing.

The movie documents the life of Mohandas K. Gandhi, an Indian lawyer who became the leader of a nation and a symbol of international peace.

Andover JVs

The Andover junior varsity softball team continued to play well, led by Capt. Allison Ingves at short-stop, freshman first baseman Megan Mueller, freshman third baseman Kim Sullivan, freshman second baseman Julie Cutler, infielder Suzi Sharpe, outfielders Kerri Murphy, Jeannette Gray, Kerry Grieco, Patty Murphy, Christine Zappala and Julia Worcester.

Other standouts include Taylor Simpson, Kathy Kim, Nicole Thompson and batterymates Nicole Wendt and Nancy Hoffman.

In Tourney

Swarthmore College sophomore Jamie Clarke of Andover competed in the NCAA Division II track championships held at North Central College in Naperville, Ill., and finished sixth in a field of 11 in the decathlon. Mr. Clarke was named All American and came away with three personal bests—in the 100 meter, 400 meter and shot put, which he won. His point total was 6,442.

Awarded Trophy

Matthew Young, son of John and Cardine Young of 96 Argilla Road, Andover, received the Edward Sherman Trophy for outstanding achievement in tennis, loyalty, enthusiasm and dedication, the most valuable player award for tennis and the Ketchikan Award for tennis at the recent Nichols College spring sports awards banquet. Mr. Young, a sophomore majoring in marketing, is a graduate of Andover High School.

Little League Results American Major League

Twins 4 - Mets 3

The American League Twins opened their season with a 4-3 win over the National League Mets. The Mets took an early three-run lead with key RBI hits by Andy McDonald and Chris Halecki. The Twins came back with four runs in the fourth and fifth innings. Ricky Mendez drove in two runs while Adam Grey and Tom Bouturiera each had a triple and two hits. Kevin Farahar collected his first Major League hit and scored the winning run. The defense was outstanding as the Twins managed to throw out three Met runners trying to take extra bases. Pitchers Mike Maesano and Brian Tisbert held the Mets to four hits. Met pitcher Corey Lynch pitched very well in his first Major League assignment.

Twins 7 - Pirates 6

The Twins scored five runs early in the game with the Pirates and held off a seventh-inning rally with the tying run left at second base. Tom Bouturiera and Ricky Mendez led the Twins in hitting and Chris Corcoran paced the Pirates' attack with three hits and two RBIs. Twin Andy Raven contributed his first Major League hit and pitchers Mendez and Brian Tisbert yielded no earned runs.

Twins 8 - Cubs 1

The Twins grabbed a five-run lead in the first inning and stayed in control for the entire game. The Cubs tightened up the game and played solid after the early problems. Included in the Twins' 13-hit attack were two hits and three RBIs by Tom Bouturiera, three hits by Pat Sharkey and Joe Sciolla's first Major League hit. Mark Langone led the Cubs in hitting and fielding. Joe Long pitched well for the Cubs. Twin pitchers Ricky Mendez and Brian Tisbert gave up only three hits and one unearned run.

Indians 15 - Cubs 3

Mike Costello scattered six hits to lead the Indians to a 15-3 win against the Cubs. The Cubs jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first, thanks to a Jason Caverly triple and a Danny Evans base hit. The Indians scored every inning after that.

Rob Derba led the attack with four hits, including a double, triple and two RBIs, and Andy Henderson and Mike Costello had two hits each. Mike Maguire, Jeff Pothier, Brian Kwon, Ryan Lysiak and Steve Vickers (double) all had single safeties.

Dan Evans and Chris Corcoran each had two hits for the Cubs while Caverly and Randy Maddocks added safeties. Cubs centerfielder Kevin Ralston and Indians second baseman Henderson played superb defense.

Indians 30 - Braves 21

The Braves jumped to a 2-0 first inning lead, but the Indians responded with seven runs in the bottom of the inning and put it away with a 17-run second. The Braves then posted a big inning with a 14-run fourth.

Jeff Pothier led the Indians' offense with five hits, including a home run and seven RBIs. Rob Derba (home run, 2 doubles and 3 RBIs) had three hits; Mike Costello (3 RBIs) had two; Andy Henderson (3 RBIs), Al Kwon, Brian Kwon, Chris Cullen, Steve Vickers (2 RBIs) and Mark Formichella (2 RBIs) all added base hits.

Hugh Quattlebaum led the Braves with three hits, Tim Sullivan and Tim Doyle each had two and Matt Walsh, Greg Bennett, Mark Ferris and Nikki Bilwakesh added base hits.

The Indians' Pothier pitched a strong three innings, scattering three hits and striking out five.

Twins 18 - Braves 6

The Twins cruised to an 18-6 win over the Braves after scoring eight runs in the first inning. Ricky Mendez and Tom Bouturiera drove in seven runs with five hits between them and Mendez collected a home run. Hugh Quattlebaum led the Braves with three hits, two runs and two runs batted in. Pat Sharkey, the Twins' pitcher, picked up the win.

Twins 7 - White Sox 1

Strong pitching and hitting by Ricky Mendez and Brian Tisbert led the Twins to a 7-1 win over the White Sox who were held to two hits. Mike Maesano, Mendez and Tisbert each had two hits. Sparkling defensive plays were made by the shortstops on both teams (Tisbert and Chris Kearn).

White Sox 6 - Red Sox 3

The White Sox defeated the Red Sox 6-3. Tom Clarke gave up only two hits as he went the full six innings. A three-run double from Mark O'Sullivan and Spencer Wendt's two hits, a walk and two runs scored were the keys to the win. Dana McCann and Ted Witman pitched very well for the Red Sox.

White Sox 8 - Orioles 2

The White Sox combined for 12 hits in this 8-2 win over the Orioles. Chris Kearn's all-around play (3-for-4, for runs batted in and three innings of solid pitching) and Tim Foley's 2-for-4 hitting and three innings of great relief sealed the victory. Mike Trombley pitched six innings for the Orioles while Matt Perrault singled and scored.

Twins 3 - Indians 0

Twins' pitcher Ricky Mendez scattered five hits with no walks and allowed one Indian baserunner to reach third base. Hard-luck Indian pitcher Rob Derba gave up only four hits. Mike Maesano had the game-winning hit in the third inning to drive in Brian Tisbert who had doubled.

Under 16 Division

Billerica 4 - Hawks 2

The Hawks were tied at the end of the half 1-1 on a shot by Steve Shepard, assisted by Steve Sintros. Billerica went ahead in the second half 4-1. John Kulcsar's goal, assisted by Shepard, was not enough to deny Billerica the 4-2 victory. BOW: Phil Meckel, Sanjiv Sheel, Mike Costello and Chris Zappala.

Cosmos 6 - Haverhill 0

Drilling in goals were Rick Guenther on a cross from Lee Farr; Ryan Rodriguez from Mat Doyle; Ron Rygwalski from Drew Leinson; Dan Prudhomme from Anthony Solri; Leinson from Kenny Hahn; Rodriguez from Leinson. BOW: Kevin Meisinger, Kyle Blais and Stew Mackey.

Warriors 7 - Salem 0

Under 14 Division

Scorpions 2 - Billerica 2

In this fast-paced, closely fought contest, Amy DiAdamo netted the equalizer from a pass by Chrissy Donovan. Andover gained the lead in the second half as DiAdamo blasted in a shot, assisted by Kara O'Handley, but Billerica connected with the tying goal. BOW: Trish McNeice, Sarah Witham and Amy Pierro.

North Reading 3 - Mighty Dragons

Although both teams were evenly matched, the Mighty Dragons could not connect on any shots on goal. BOW: Cate Williamson and Leah Henderson.

Merrimac 1 - Comets 0

Saugus 1 - Comets 0

The Comets kept the pressure on Merrimac throughout the first half but could not net the ball. Andover's excellent defense allowed only a single goal in the second half. BOW: Chrissie DerAnanian, Amy Fenton and Debbie Ballee for their powerful defense.

Shorthanded by two players, the Comets effectively used a 3-4-1 strategy in a tough physical game and were able to keep the Saugus squad at bay until the final 10 minutes when Saugus scored on a high shot over keeper Kate Hansberry's head. BOW: Merry Rose, Diana Dresser and Jenna DeMarco.

Destroyers 4 - North Andover 0

The Destroyers captured the Under 14 Boys Division I title in the Essex County League. Their strong offensive line shut out North Andover with Quang Nguyen earning a hat trick, Chad Bowman firing in an excellent shot and Josh Nelken providing superb assists for three of the four tallies. BOW: Richie Meyers and the entire Destroyer defense.

Haverhill 5 - Raiders 4

The Raiders slow start allowed Haverhill to gain a 3-0 lead, but they pulled themselves together in the second half. Anthony Correnti scored, assisted by Lyle Morgan, and Dan Hansberry blasted in a pass from Peter Gigliotti. Correnti earned a hat trick, assisted by Hansberry and Mat Binda. Ed Jurdi did an excellent job as substitute goalie. BOW: Rocky Tradd, Andrew MacNeil and Dave Poulo.

Blazers 1 - Gloucester 0

Scott Nicholson netted a goal in the first half on Vikram Penumalli's indirect kick. With no substitutes available, the Blazers were forced to play

Winchester 2 - Buccaneers 0

The Buccaneers played scrappy ball but could not deny the stronger Winchester team the 2-0 victory. BOW: goalie Adam McHale and Michael Wu and Matt Ely, defense.

Under 12 Division

Strikers 5 - Woburn 3

Woburn had a 2-0 first-time edge, but the Strikers came back to play an aggressive second half. Buffy Sonntag tallied, assisted by Jen Monroe, and Kati Jurdi booted in a shot, assisted by Sara Marchessault. After Jenn Griffin's unassisted goal, Jurdi netted her second tally and Munroe made the final goal. This victory puts the Strikers' record at 6 wins and 2 ties and places them in contention for their division title. BOW: Lauren Ofria and Kristen Chaiksson.

Winchester 2 - Sting II 0

The Sting defense held Winchester to a single goal in each half. BOW: goalie Pat Russo and wing Eric Stoltz.

Residents Aid Central To Semifinal

By Rick Harrison

"We jumped on Dave and Glenn's backs and rode them like thoroughbreds," said CCHS coach Marc Pelletier. "They both did the job."

"Miles spotted the ball well, worked the corners and showed tremendous composure against Newton North," said Pelletier. "He and Farnham (catcher when not pitching) work incredibly well together, and our program will really miss those two when they graduate this year."

Lane checks in at over .400 with 27-for-69, and the junior outfielder-catcher has scored 17 runs, driven home 14, smacked three doubles and one triple.

Miles is hitting .360 in limited action.

Miles is one of the league's top pitchers, however, sporting a perfect 8-0 record. In 58 workhorse innings he has permitted 58 hits, walked only 11 and struck out 33.

Andover residents Glenn Farnham, Mike Lane and Dave Miles led the Central Catholic baseball team to the semifinal round of the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Tournament this past weekend, the Red Raiders beating Newton North 6-2 and Lincoln-Sudbury 8-3 to earn a shot at St. John's Prep.

CCHS has advanced further this year than it has since 1966, and the Red Raiders barely missed out (by one loss on the final day) on a share of the Merrimack Valley Large School Division title.

The Red Raiders had the second best overall ledger in the league, 14-5, and joined Andover as the only two teams to beat Methuen (18-2) this year.

In the tourney-opening 6-2 triumph over Newton North, senior righthander Dave Miles hiked his pitching record to 8-0 with a complete-game, nine-inning six-hitter. He struck out four and didn't walk a batter, hurling two-hit shutout ball over the final seven innings.

Chris Lane went 3-for-3 at the plate, including a two-run double, and Glenn Farnham belted a pair of RBI triples (six for the season).

Farnham jacked his mound record to 5-2 with a route-going six-hitter against third-seeded Lincoln-Sudbury. He walked only two and fanned five.

Chris Lane, catching in this game, continued his hot hitting with 2-for-5 including an RBI single. Farnham smacked just one hit, but reached base four straight times and scored four runs.

Opals 7 - Sapphires 2

The Opals scored first from Lisabeth Willey, assisted by Kristin Games. The Sapphires' Beth Har scored and Opals' Sarah Walker scored, assisted by Nicki Shoemaker. Lee Palmer, assisted by Jenna Hartwell, had two breakaway goals. Hartwell booted in one to make it Opals 5-1. Goalkeeper Noelle blank made some great saves against a strong Sapphires' offense. Amanda Piercy, assisted by Katherine Blais (Sapphires) and Kaitlin Dargan and Palmer (Opals) scored. BOW: Jennifer Blongiewicz and Dana Sawyer (Sapphires) and Kaitlin Dargan and Laura Orlando (Opals).

Rubies 3 - Topaz 1

Neither team scored in the first quarter. In the second, Holly Ferris scored for the Topaz and Molly Seavey scored for the Rubies on a penalty kick. Ashley Werner scored in the third quarter and Ann Marie Paone booted in the final Rubies' goal. BOW: Suzanne Meeker and Ginger Hsu (Rubies) and Aimee Ferry and Holly Ferris (Topaz).

Amethysts 3 - Pearls 2

Courtney Barron scored for the Amethysts and Sarah Plamondon, assisted by Heather Kybicki, scored for the Pearls for a 1-1 tie at the half. Alexa Kokinos (Amethysts) scored from Julie Viola and again from Viola and Catherine Kaleel. Plamondon got her second goal in the fourth quarter but it was not enough as the Amethysts held for a 3-2 win. BOW: Heather Keeler and Catherine Ostrofsky (Pearls) and Julie Viola, Hilary Winters and Kalley Thomas (Amethysts).

Emeralds 2 - Diamonds 1

Viki Pierce scored and Maura Wittbold put a corner kick in the goal for the Emeralds. Kristy DeDuck scored the Diamonds' only goal on an assist from Sera Copolino. Meghan Woo, in goal for the Emeralds, blocked many attempts and landed on the ball to prevent a tying goal late in the fourth quarter. BOW: Brenna O'Connor, Kathryn Rose and Victoria Costello (Diamonds) and Erin Baggeroe and Lori Volpe (Emeralds).

Emeralds 3 - Pearls 0

Goals were scored for the Emeralds by Maura Wittbold, Sarah Muller and Wittbold again on a great throw-in from Barabara Contos. Sarah Muller's fine goaltending stopped the Pearls in the fourth quarter. BOW: Heather Keeler and Sarah Plamondon (Pearls) and Sarah Ely, Emily Reimer and Nicole Ducey (Emeralds).

Opals 6 - Rubies 2

The Opals were held scoreless in the first quarter by a strong Rubies' team. Opals' Sarah Walker worked hard in goal. The Opals came alive in the second when Lee Palmer scored twice, assisted both times by Jenna Hartwell, and Hartwell scored, assisted by Palmer. The Opals opened the third quarter with a goal by Palmer, assisted by Laura Orlando. The Rubies came back with a goal from Caitlin Burke, assisted by Megan Burke, and from Megan Burke, assisted by Jessie Ting. Hartwell scored in the fourth quarter on a nice pass from Nicki Shoemaker. The Opals' final goal came from Sarah Walker, assisted by Samantha Witman. BOW: Jackie Tommasino and Lynne Mazza (Rubies) and Joya Scott and Erin O'Brien (Opals).

Skeletons 3- Dragons 0

Dan Rabinovitz was the Dragon's goalie in the second period. Jason Masiello scored the Skeletons' first goal, assisted by Ben Bradway. Russell In Familiar Role

By Rick Harrison

When we last saw the Andover High baseball team in tournament action last June, John Russell was in the process of wasting a masterful pitching performance as the Golden Warriors dropped a tough 1-0 decision to Waltham in the Eastern Mass. Division 1 North championship game.

Last weekend AHS opened play in this year's tourney, and Russell was again on the mound. But that's where similarity and reality seems to end.

Andover, picking up right where it left off as champion of the Lawrence Invitational, scored six times in the first two innings and tacked on 10 runs in the middle three frames to run roughshod over Newton South 17-6.

The triumph extended the Warriors' record to 15-6 and earned them a quarterfinal round berth opposite familiar foe Methuen. The top-seeded Rangers and Warriors split during the season series, Methuen winning 9-5 and AHS turning the tables 12-4 in the title game of the Lawrence tourney.

That game was to have been played the first part of this week, but the Andover graduation of Monday and the rains of Tuesday twice postponed it.

The 19-hit barrage against Newton South featured three-hit performances from veterans Keith Abernathy and Steve Surette, both of who also scored two runs.

Leadoff batter Matt Pothier rapped two hits and scored twice, Peter Radulski did the same, sophomore Dave Blank as well, John Glynn too, and senior veteran Jack Dalton lashed a brace of safeties.

One of Pothier's safeties was the first home run of his varsity career.

Hits by Chris Eggert and Dana Orlando capped the assault.

Russell worked the first six innings en route to his fifth victory, permitting just four runs and walking two.

Mopping up with an inning of relief each were lefty flamethrower Blank, Eggert and big sophomore Joe Marinaro.

the local schools has been appointed head life-guard at Ponps pond for the season which will start June 26 and end September 2.

The last of Punchard's four-year classes graduated Tuesday night, with 113 students, a record number, receiving their diplomas. Rev. Frederick Noss, chairman of the Punchard trustees, presented the diplomas.

The four honor essayists proved by their treatment of their subject and by their delivery that they had earned their places at the head of the class.

25 Years Ago — May 1964

A total project cost between 3 and 3/4 and four million dollars has been forecast for a new high school.

A joint meeting of the School Committee and Secondary School Building Committee was held Tuesday night. The committees reviewed a decision for a new high school, with a searching discussion of the factors which led the Building Committee to reach its decision.

The Republican Town committee has broken sharply with precedent, endorsing Paul W. Cronin for a seat in the general court which is currently held by Arthur Williams. A 16-9 vote, with 10 members absent, followed a long, sometimes heated, debate among the 25 members present.

Some 942 voters spent a long and hot four hours Monday night at the special town meeting.

At press time Wednesday, a bad woods fire was burning in Lowell Junction. It started in a house trailer which caught on fire in the north-bound land of Route 93, south of Dascomb Road. Flames, fanned by strong winds, spread to nearby woods causing a major brush fire.

10 Years Ago — May 1979

Town Clerk Elden Salter was asked by selectmen Monday night to write a letter to state officials registering the board's disapproval of any legislation which would reduce local control of elections. Salter said that since many small towns now depend on the state to help run their elections, Secretary of State Michael J. Connolly wants to officially become the chief state election official. He would then directly control all town clerks in the state concerning elections.

When the letter is approved and signed by selectmen, it will be sent to Rep. Gerald Cohen, the state committee on elections and the secretary of state.

Andover sold 5,588,470 gallons of water to North Reading during May, according to a report by water superintendent Ernest J. Cote.

performers to town," she said.

Dr. Kenneth Seifert, superintendent of schools, and Town Manager Kenneth Mahony have been working with Mr. Cohen over the past six months to draw up a contract that would provide greater access for community organizations to the Collins Center.

"When people pay for something, they take care of it. When they don't, they don't give a damn," said Mr. Cohen.

Mr. Cohen said their goal was to provide, at no cost to the school, an auditorium.

"We've done that and I think we deserve some credit for that," he said.

He said TAEA was willing to look at ways to better serve the community and change what was necessary.

Committeeman Andres Salazar moved that a subcommittee, with a School Committee representative, be created. It would study the contract between the committee and the Collins Center, examine the uses of the center and report on how the community can be better served. The motion passed unanimously, and Mr. Salazar volunteered to serve on the subcommittee.

Honored At St. Lawrence

Two Andover residents, Christopher M. Morrison and Katherine E. Walsh, were recognized for their athletic achievements during the winter season at St. Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y.

Mr. Morrison of 18 High Plain Road was a member of the St. Lawrence men's indoor track team. He graduated from Central Catholic High School and was an economics major. Mr. Morrison graduated this year.

The track team finished the season fourth in New York state and won its sixth straight Independent College Athletic Conference title.

Ms. Walsh of 28 Essex St. was on the women's ski team. A sophomore, she graduated from Andover High School and majors in environmental studies and sociology. Her team placed 11th in the country at the NCAA national tournament.

Volleyball Teams Wins Four of Six

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys' varsity volleyball team finished the 1989 season with a rush, creeping back to the .500 mark as it completed the first year of its existence with a highly respectable 10-10 overall record.

The Golden Warriors captured two of the final three matches last week, whipping Braintree and Dedham High 2-0 and dropping a tough 2-1 decision to a Weymouth South team ranked third in the state.

In addition there was a late-season come-from-behind, character-building 2-1 mini-upset of highly-regarded Cambridge Rindge & Latin, and the AHS netmen dropped a 2-1 decision to Weymouth North, defeated Boston English twice, 2-0 and 2-1, whitewashed Wellesley, 2-0, and dropped a tough 2-1 decision to Lowell.

"We're very pleased to end up at the .500 mark," said co-coach George Sullivan. "But we did put some pressure on ourselves. What do we do next year for an encore?"

The Warriors should be in excellent shape next spring, graduating just two seniors and getting the best players from a JV squad that had a superb 14-3 maiden season.

Match Results

The final match against Braintree produced an impressive 15-5, 15-7 sweep.

The team's two seniors, Jerome Guerard (back from injury) and James Spinelli, went out in style with strong overall efforts while athletic John Thompson contributed 18 spikes including six kills.

"It was a good overall way to finish," said co-coach George Sullivan. "It gives us a very positive attitude heading into next year."

"We received a lot of comments late in the season about how much we improved, and how we didn't really look like a first-year team by the end."

Dedham went just as easily as Braintree, 15-5, 15-12, but Weymouth South was a different story.

Weymouth won the first game, 15-7, Andover the middle game, 16-14, and Weymouth the rubber contest, 15-6.

"They were a very big and very skilled team with five seniors starting," explained Sullivan.

Playing well for Andover were Chris Merrill (setting), Glenn Driscoll (at the net), Kevin "Mr. Reliable" Murphy and Jeff Foley.

Cambridge Rindge & Latin, rated one of the best boys' high school teams in Massachusetts by "Volleyball Monthly" magazine, beat Andover 15-8 in the first game before the locals roared back for consecutive 15-11 victories.

"Cambridge jumped out to big leads against us in all three games," said co-coach Art Iworsley. "But we recovered well each time and it was really an impressive victory for us."

Playing well for Andover were juniors John Thompson, Kevin Murphy, Glenn Driscoll and Chris Merrill.

"Kevin Murphy has become an outstanding blocker and defensive player, Thompson and Driscoll were our leading hitters, and Chris Merrill has become our top setter in the 5-1 offensive formation," explained coach Iworsley.

Andover switched from a 6-2 to a 5-1 setup partially because of the injury to Co-Capt. Jerome Guerard.

Guerard, the team's top setter, suffered a broken finger and upon re-examination last week was placed in a full arm cast. The injury will keep the senior sidelined for the rest of the season.

Cambridge R&L entered the Andover match with a 5-2 overall record. Andover made the long trip to the South Shore and Weymouth North, winning the first game 15-11 before losing the next two 6-15 and 3-15.

"We jumped out to an 8-1 lead in the opening game," said coach Iworsley, "but Weymouth came back to make that one close and then won the next two by big scores."

"It was like two completely different matches, and once they got the momentum they kept it going. It was a team we should have beaten."

Playing well for AHS were Kevin Murphy and Chris Merrill.

Jerome Guerard returned to the lineup to serve a few points, but it was after this match his injury was re-diagnosed and the full cast applied.

Boston English was a 15-4, 15-7 victim the first time around.

Junior Dave Tucker and sophomore Jeff Foley served well throughout the match, Chris Merrill once again was outstanding at setter, John Thompson's jump serve was working well, and Kevin Murphy starred all-around at hitting, blocking and defense.

The rematch against English was a bit tougher, the Boston school surprising AHS 16-14 in the first game before Andover rallied for 15-4, 15-6 victories.

"I think our kids were a little cocky at the start because we'd beaten them so easily the previous week," said co-coach George Sullivan. "Once they smartened up we won fairly easily."

John Thompson led the offense with six kills and 11 good spikes, while senior Co-Capt. James Spinelli and Kevin Foley were the top servers.

The 2-0 romp over Wellesley (15-7, 15-5) saw Jeff Foley score nine points on his serve, Kevin Murphy star defensively, and Glenn Driscoll team with James Spinelli to spark the offense.

The loss to improved Lowell (five straight wins) was a heartbreaker, AHS coasting 15-5 in the first game, losing the middle contest 10-15, and then bowing 16-14 in the rubber game as Lowell fought off six match points and erased a 14-8 deficit with an 8-0 closing run.

"Lowell is very sound fundamentally," said coach Sullivan. "They win because they set well and play excellent position volleyball."

"We had them beaten physically and mentally after the first game, but for some reason our guys relaxed and let them back into it."

Chris Merrill continued his outstanding setting (95 per cent average), Kevin Murphy received serve well (94 per cent success), and contributing strong efforts after being elevated from the JV squad were junior hitter Ben Streeter and sophomore hitter John Bishop.

Gym Team Finishes Season

The Andover-North Andover YMCA girls' gymnastics team finished a busy season this past weekend at their league optional championships.

Karen Kirley of Andover brought home a third place trophy for all around and placed second on balance beam, fourth on vault, fifth on uneven bars and sixth on floor exercise. Devin Star of Andover placed fifth all around, third on uneven bars, fifth on vault and sixth on balance beam. Stephanie Brown, in her first year of competition, placed sixth on beam and fourth on uneven bars. Lindsey Rudolph placed fifth on floor exercise; Jenny Ratto earned a third-place medal on vault and Stephanie Ruda placed seventh on vault.

Sarah Conrad and Erin Connelly, both in their first year of competition.

Pacers Take Hoop Title

Pisco's Pacers are the 1988-89 champions of the Department of Community Services' over-30 basketball senior division for the town of Andover. The Pacers captured their first 12 games of the regular season before sustaining their initial defeat and finished first with a league best mark of 13-1. Player-coaches Bob Pisco and Kevin Douglas' squad featured the smooth play of Steven and Brian Langton, Teddy Mac, Paulie Nils, Doug McDonald, Tim Healy, Tom McKee, Jim Corcoran, Tim Dargan, Kevin Twohig and Stan Fiumara.

Post season match-ups featured a semifinal best-of-three playoff clash with the always tough Andover Companies' team. The Pacers led by two with four seconds on the clock in game one, when Andover's Tom Riser hit a three-point bomb to give his team the opening playoff win. The Pacers battled back in game two and three with tenacious defense and good shooting to take the semifinal series.

Enter the Suns Club, owners of a two-point regular season victory over the Pacers. Sean Mason and forward Eddie Minishak fueled the Suns' attack for a 5-point victory in game one. The next game went to the Pacers as Steve Langton had his mates running to a 54-46 victory.

In the showdown game, the Pacers sprinted to a 19-point first-quarter lead via the expertise of Teddy Mac on the boards. The Suns cut the Pacers' lead to a half-dozen points several times in the second half before falling to an 11-point final margin of victory. The Pacers thus transformed a team that won a total of one game in their first two league seasons into a championship club in its third year together.

Legion Team Opens Season

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Legion Post 8 baseball team launches its 1989 season next Monday night at the Phillips Academy varsity field (off Salem Street), hosting Essex County Zone 8 archrival Lawrence Post 15.

Andover, with 11 returning veterans and seven newcomers on its 18-player roster, hopes to improve on last summer's 12-10 record.

"Our pitching should be very strong this year," said coach Al Pelletier, "and the biggest thing we'll be concentrating on is tightening up the defense.

"On paper we appear to have a very solid club, and I'm encouraged by the way things have gone early in the pre-season. I believe we'll be as good as anyone in our division, but I look for some excellent competition from (defending Zone champ) Methuen and Lawrence," added Pelletier.

The 18-year-old players on the team are pitcher-first baseman Barry Connors (Choate Academy), infielder Steve Howes (Northern Essex Community College), Phillips Academy graduates and outfielders Joe Lyons and Andy Shea (both Harvard University bound), catcher-outfielder Tom Murray (UMass-Amherst) and pitcher-outfielder John Russell.

The 17-year-old ballplayers are catcher-relief pitcher Keith Abernathy, pitcher-first baseman Dave Blank, pitcher-first baseman Chris Eggert, catcher-outfielder Sean Gill, pitcher-outfielder Brett Hammond, infielder Joe Iarrobino, infielder Peter Reming and outfielder-third baseman-pitcher Curt Soloman.

The two 16-year-olds are catcher-pitcher Bill Batchelder (Governor Dummer) and catcher Brendan Sharkey (St. John's Prep).

Members of the taxi squad are infielders Dana Orlando and Albie Minichello.

The veterans are Connors, Howes, Lyons, Shea, Murray, Russell, Abernathy, Gill, Iarrobino, Reming and Soloman.

Connors was the top hurler on the staff last summer with a 5-1 record, and joining him on the deep pitching corps will be Russell, lefties Eggert and Blank, Abernathy, Hammond, Soloman and Lyons.

Bow In Net Tourney

Both Jeff Hechemy and the girls' doubles team of Karen Lottatore and Julie Salazar bowed out of the Eastern Mass. North Sectional Individual Tennis Tournament recently.

Hechemy, who reached the sectional final last spring, was beaten for the first time this year when Kevin Connelly of Burlington registered a 6-1, 6-3 straight-set triumph in the semifinal round.

Hechemy, now 18-1 this year, won four matches two weekends ago and then eliminated Dave White of Lincoln-Sudbury 6-3, 2-6, 6-3 in the quarters before being bumped by Connelly.

Connelly had the added advantage of playing on his home Burlington courts.

Ironically, Hechemy defeated Connelly in three sets last year en route to his finals berth opposite Lexington's Lubos Kochek.

Sophomore Karen Lottatore and senior Julie Salazar, thrown together exclusively for the tournament, had moved to the quarterfinals before they were stopped in straight sets at Peabody High

Chinese-Americans

tors in Beijing's Tiananmen Square early Sunday. Sources speculate the attack was ordered by senior leader Deng Xiaoping or Premier Li Peng to put a conclusive end to almost two months of massive student protests.

"My personal opinion is it's like some cancer, these old and stubborn Communists," Mr. Liu said. "They have been opposing economic reform. They thought (public opinion was) on their side. They were dead wrong."

The students appear to have been set back—but only temporarily, observers say. "For the time being, the hard-liners will have control," said Thomas Huang of Farrwood Drive, past president of the Boston chapter of the National Association of Chinese-Americans. "I think this (protest) is a trend which cannot be turned back. It takes a tragic event to shift the mood of the entire country. But there is no turning back to the old policy."

"Shocking, terrible, unforgivable" is how Mr. Huang's wife, Vivian, described the violence in Tiananmen Square. The Chinese troops who fired on the square couldn't have known what they were doing, she said. She cited reports that the soldiers had been drugged before they were ordered to attack.

The students looked ready to compromise in the days before the military cracked down. "They tried, but they asked for too much," Mr. Liu said. The Chinese leaders "want to show their fist to the students. I think they're (leaders) going to lose the fight. The military is going to say, 'Enough.'"

Some units may have already. Split into factions, two divisions of the People's Liberation Army have already confronted each other in tanks. "It would be a tragedy to China and the whole world if China lapsed into civil war again," Ms. Huang said.

And yet, many believe civil war is inevitable, and some, that it is necessary. "It is a good step toward democracy," Mr. Liu said. "This is a turning point. The past 10 years has been like a prelude. After this, the students will win. I think they are prepared."

"It's very sad for my countrymen to be fighting the way they are," said Elsie Wu of Matthew Street, who teaches at Bancroft Elementary School. "I was hoping the change would be more gradual, but it looks like there will be a revolution. And no revolution comes without bloodshed."

For people with relatives and friends near the focal point of the brutality, the situation goes beyond political guessing games. Memorial Hall librarian Evelyn Kuo's sister was supposed to be coaching a basketball team in Beijing this week. "I'm kind of worrying," said Ms. Kuo, who has been trying to phone her sister.

"Many of our friends (who have relatives near Beijing) are keeping in constant dialogue," Ms. Huang said.

The idealism and commitment of the student protests have galvanized the world, whatever the outcome. And, whatever the outcome, they will leave a mark in history.

"It (would be) a shame for Americans to stand by and watch blood flowing from fellow human beings," Mr. Liu said.

Sarah L. Healy

Sarah L. (Leach) Healy, 81, 256 North Main St., died June 1, 1989, at Lawrence General Hospital after a short illness.

Mrs. Healy was a public health nurse for the town of Andover. She retired in 1984. She previously worked as a supervisor of operating rooms in many Greater Boston area hospitals.

Mrs. Healy was born in Somerset and lived in Andover for the past 45 years.

She was a graduate of Boston University School of Nursing.

Mrs. Healy was a former member of the Phillips Academy Faculty Wives Benevolent Society and various other women's clubs of Boston and Andover.

She was the widow of Richard V. Healy. They were married 33 years.

Members of her family include a son, Richard V. Jr. of Chelmsford; daughter, Judith A. Darcy of Woburn; sisters, Ann O'Brien, Margaret Leach and Beatrice McCarthy, all of Somerset; and six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be private.

Donations can be made to Lawrence General Hospital Foundation, P.O. Box 189, Lawrence, Mass. 01842.

Elizabeth C. Hall

Elizabeth C. (O'Neil) Hall, 80, of North Andover, died June 4, 1989, in Lawrence General Hospital.

Mrs. Hall was born in Lawrence. She had lived in Methuen before moving to North Andover.

She had worked as comber for 18 years in the Arlington Mill in Lawrence before retiring in the 1950s.

Mrs. Hall was the widow of Herman Hall.

Members of her family include a son, Donald E. Hall of Cocoa, Fla.; sisters, Mrs. Margaret Cantillion and Mrs. Mary Lahey Richards, both of Andover; Mrs. Catherine Gallagher of Groveland and Mrs. Charles (Helen) Bickford of Hyde Park; grandchildren, Miss Tina H. Hall of Melbourne Fla.; Mrs. Charles (Donna E.) Martinez of Turkey; Donald E. Hall Jr. of Cocoa, Fla. and U.S. Navy Seaman

John E. Hall, stationed in Middleton, Tenn.; three great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass was celebrated Wednesday in St. Monica's Church, Methuen. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery, Methuen.

Harlan Briggs

Harlan Briggs, 43, of Frye Circle, died June 2, 1989, at Tewksbury Hospital, where he had been a long-time patient suffering from complications of tuberculosis.

Born in Methuen, he had been an Andover resident for most of his life.

He was the son of the late Thomas and the late Lillian (Cody) Briggs.

Mr. Briggs worked as a hairdresser in the Lawrence-Andover area until illness forced his retirement.

Members of his family include his daughter, Amy Lynn Briggs, and several cousins, including George Briggs of Lawrence.

A Mass was celebrated Wednesday in St. Williams Church. Burial was in Tewksbury Cemetery.

Irene Jarbeau

Irene (Lajoie) Jarbeau, 73, of 12 Boston Road, died June 4, 1989, at Holy Family Hospital in Methuen.

Born in Lowell, she was a homemaker and attended St. Augustine Church.

Members of her family include sons, Raymond of Virginia, James of Lawrence and Edward of Tewksbury; daughters, Mrs. Leo (Patricia) Driscoll of Andover and Mrs. Harold (Jeannette) Emerson of Methuen; a brother, Peter Lajoie of Manchester, N.H.; sisters, Rosalee Galibriski of Manchester, N.H., Jeanne Diette of Westford, Elaine Buote of Atkinson, N.H., and Pearl Anzaldi of Lawrence; 17 grandchildren; five great-children; and many nieces and nephews.

A Mass was celebrated Wednesday at St. Augustine Church. Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Graduation

Mr. McAnally reminded his classmates that only a few years back school dances drew barely 60 students. He said he was proud that dances as well as other school functions now have the support of the majority of the school population.

"We found it was all right to feel pride in our school," he said.

Arminta Thompson, an A Better Chance student from Ohio, told the audience gathered at the ceremony, that her three years at the high school were a challenge she doesn't regret. She thanked the teachers, students, host families and the ABC program on behalf of her two fellow ABC graduates.

"We came here as non-community members, but we leave as community members," Ms. Thompson said. ABC brings youths from disadvantaged areas to Andover for the duration of their high school careers.

Timothy Schellens of Belgium and Rosa Ana Vargas of Peru, the two American Field Service students, presented their countries' flags to Principal Wilbur Hixon.

"I hope you take a part of Andover with you," Mr. Hixon told the two exchange students.

Class essayist Natalie Belkin asked for a moment of silence for the students in China facing death as they fight for democracy and human rights.

She then went on to remind her fellow graduates of the gamut of emotions they have felt through their years at Andover High. Ms. Belkin said each one of those emotions will serve the graduates well in preparing for the world beyond the doors of Andover High.

Guest speaker Sarah Edwards of Channel 4's Evening Magazine also talked about high school memories. She said even the bad ones could be turned around and used as advantages.

"As my mother always said, 'If life gives you a lemon, make lemonade,'" said Ms. Edwards.

She went on to tell a few funny anecdotes about learning experiences she has had in the television business.

"A lot of you are confused about the future, and that's OK too...If you think I had a clue 19 years ago at my high school graduation, you're wrong," she said.

Ms. Edwards told the students their future dreams and aspirations will continue to change and move them forward.

Following Ms. Edwards' speech, Mr. Hixon presented the class valedictorian, Ms. Belkin, and salutatorian, Kerri Anne Flaherty, and the graduates. He praised the graduates, saying they had been dedicated to making the high school a friendlier place.

"The respect that exists between us is something I have never seen," said Mr. Hixon.

With that, he introduced the 349 graduating seniors of the class of 1989.

Crystals

Jim Albridge from Ward Hill will speak about the selection, care and feeding of crystals at the monthly meeting of the Merrimack Valley Psi Symposium on Thursday, June 15, at 7:30 p.m. at North Parish Church in North Andover. Meetings are open to the public. Freewill donations are accepted.

"Jim would like to impart how to expand your consciousness, transform your life and experience spiritual insight through the proper use of crystals," said symposium members. "He will focus on how to select the right crystal, some myths and misconceptions and cleansing, charging, protecting and storing your crystal."

OUR 61st YEAR

Ralph W. Ackley Jr., 43, of Celburne, Texas, died May 25, 1989, in Fort Worth, Texas of injuries resulting from a motor vehicle accident.

He was born in Groton, Conn., where he had lived for several years before moving to Andover.

Mr. Ackely moved to Texas three years ago, where he was a registered nuclear engineer for Stone and Webster Corp. of Boston.

Members of his family include his wife, Pamela (Hale) Ackley; daughters, Cristin L., Vanessa, and Elyse Ackley, all of Cleburne; his parents, Ralph W. Ackley Sr. and Lois (Eaumes) Ackerly of Groton, Conn.; a brother, Alan Ackley of Groton; and a sister, Deborah Ackley of Mystic, Conn.

A graveside service will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in Lakeview Cemetery, Wolfeboro, N.H.

Memorial services will be Sunday at 2 p.m. in First Congregational Church, Main St., Wolfeboro.

Another memorial service will be held June 15 at 2 p.m. at the Old Lighthouse at 7 Water St., Stonington, Conn.

BUSINESS PROFILES

Chris and J.B. Doherty

J.B. Doherty Associates, Inc.

For the sixth consecutive year, J.B. Doherty Associates has received a special award from the RELO Service, the world's largest referral network of 1200 independent realtors. Membership in RELO affords them access to potential buyers transferring into the area as well as information on available homes throughout the nation for those transferring to other communities.

As members of RELO, J.B. Doherty Associates is able to offer their clients an unique loan prequalification service throughout the nation. This prequalification will expedite mortgage approval since some of the steps necessary for approval of the mortgage loan will have been completed. Qualification can be done in twenty-four hours. When presenting this certificate has already determined that the buyer is a viable applicant for a loan that has prequalified for one or more loan programs.

Since 1981, when J.B. Doherty Associates opened, co-owners Joe and Chris Doherty have managed one of the most successful and respected real estate agencies in the Merrimack Valley. Their knowledge of the market allows them to help you price your home accurately and find a qualified buyer quickly.

Whether you are selling or buying, the professionals at J.B. Doherty Associates are qualified to provide you with the necessary services and eager to extend themselves on a personal level to make your real estate transactions efficient, speedy and satisfying.

J.B. Doherty Associates, Inc. is located at 12 Bartlett Street, Andover. Telephone: (508) 470-1200. They are open daily.

We offer unique design/home improvements

Back porch of newly renovated home

The extensive renovation of the home pictured above has made the exterior 90% maintenance free. This two family dwelling had its original stucco replaced with vinyl siding. Aluminum trim was installed over window casings and sills and around door casings. New seamless gutters, complete with down spouts, and combination storm windows and doors were installed. Two existing porches, front and rear, were removed and replaced with new ones. The buttresses were covered with siding, to be uniform with the house. New precast steps were installed along with aluminum railings and posts on the porches. Decorative aluminum columns were added. The roof on the house and garage were replaced with G.A.D. fiberglass shingles.

Aluminum Age uses only the finest materials and skilled craftsmen. The vinyl exterior of this house will only need an occasional hosing to maintain its fresh look. They can provide replacement windows of all brands and guarantee expert installation. Satisfied customers appreciate the professionalism and attention to detail that Aluminum Age is noted for.

Aluminum Age office and showroom is located at 170 Main Street, North Reading. Telephone: (508) 664-5475. R.C. Bernal

Judith B. Pinney Insurance Agency's new location in North Reading

Judith B. Pinney Insurance Agency

The Judith B. Pinney Insurance Agency has moved to a new location for the convenience of their clients. The new office at 325 Main Street (Route 28) in North Reading offers ample parking. This bright, spacious office is located on the ground floor of Rhovin Place, next to Pinewood Gardens.

Although the address is new, they offer the same personalized services for their customers. One stop at the Judith B. Agency can meet all your insurance needs. Judy has expanded her staff of friendly and capable personnel who can advise and write policies for the homeowner, life, health, disability, business, auto, contractor, horse, stable and farm insurance. They are licensed in most of New England and are able to insure horses throughout the United States. They offer small bonds for lawyers and competitive homeowners rates.

Service is the primary concern of this expanding company. They stand by their claims and are available to assist the insured party when needed. There is a personal caring for their clients and their needs. They strive to accommodate their customers with flexible hours. Quotes can be given quickly and accurately in their modern computerized office. They will even stand in line for the customer at the Registry of Motor Vehicles and deliver documents to the home for signatures if necessary.

Judy is on the steering committee of the North Reading Rotary, member of Professional Insurance Agents, New England Women's Business Owners and Women's Insurance Network.

Hours are 9:00 to 5:00 Monday through Friday and 10:00 to 1:00 on Saturday, and by appointment. Telephone: (508) 664-1250. R.C. Bernal

Why are people from ANDOVER, WEST NEWBURY, DANVERS, BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA & NEW YORK, moving to the outskirts of HAVERHILL?

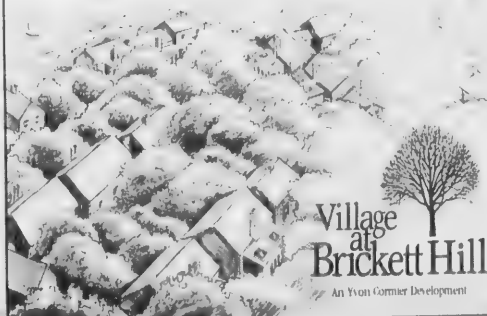

In two words - Brickett Hill. As a matter of fact, more than 75% of our buyers to date are from out of town. Why? Because after seriously shopping the market they have found Brickett Hill to be an extraordinary value... innovative townhome designs, superior quality, convenient location, and a very attractive price. What else are you looking for?

RELOCATING? LET ME HELP!

PAT BOOTH
RELOCATION DIRECTOR
OWREN CORPORATION

As Relocation Director of Owren Corporation, part of my job is to assist in the relocating process of customers and clients from our six offices (Century 21 Minuteman Realty in Andover, Chelmsford, and Concord, Century 21 Winchester Realty, and Century 21 Treasure Coast Realty in Stuart, Florida). Moving to a new area should be an exciting experience, but it can sometimes be spoiled by the frustration of arranging the initial visits. When a customer or client of Owren Corporation plans to relocate to just about anywhere in the world, I provide them with complete community information, financing data, and listings of properties for sale in their new locale. I will put them in contact with one or more professional real estate brokers. With contacts throughout the United States, Canada, Western Europe, Japan, Australia, and the South Seas, I am familiar with brokers with proven records for service—arranging for a tour of the new area, making hotel recommendations, setting up viewings of properties, etc. This pre-visit preparation will make your move a much smoother and happier one.

If you are planning to move away from Andover, please allow me to help. Just call 475-1243 and ask for Pat Booth.

Andover Man Wins Award For 'Outstanding Principal'

Dr. Kenneth L. DeBenedictis of 3 Surrey Lane, principal of Col. John Robinson School in Westford, received the state's Thomas C. Passios Outstanding Principal Award and the National Distinguished Principal Award.

The award committee was made up of representatives of the Massachusetts Elementary School Principals' Association, the state Department of Education and the Fitchburg State College Alumni Association. Dr. DeBenedictis was selected for his "outstanding qualities of professionalism, leadership, enthusiasm and dedication," said Nadya Aswad Higgins, executive director of the principals' association.

The Passios Award is presented annually to an elementary or middle level principal who has demonstrated clear leadership in developing successful programs for children and teachers, exceptional dedication to education, outstanding professionalism and an unselfish attitude toward helping others, the committee said.

Dr. DeBenedictis received the Passios Award at the MESPA spring conference banquet in Hyannis May 11. It was awarded by Harold Reynolds, Jr., state commissioner of education.

He will travel to Washington, D.C., in October to receive the National Distinguished Principal Award from U.S. Secretary of Education Lauro Cavazo.

Dr. DeBenedictis started his career as a teaching principal in 1968. He has been a full-time administrator since 1969 and at the Robinson School for the past 10 years.

Dr. DeBenedictis received his bachelor of science degree in education at Northeastern University; a master's degree in education and a certificate of advanced graduate study degree in administration and supervision at Boston University; and his doctor of education in curriculum, instruction and administration at Boston College, where he passed his doctoral comprehensive exams with distinction.

He was one of the first three Commonwealth Leadership Academy Fellows, spending a year in independent research, speaking engagements, educational panel participation and developing and organizing workshops for school administrators and central office professionals. He also achieved full certification as a National Association of Secondary School Principals trained assessor.

"Dr. DeBenedictis has become an extremely effective leader in curriculum development—a sincere innovator of curricula ideas," said his colleagues. "He has skillfully used the technique of promoting staff involvement by empowering them in the decision-making process."

"He radiates enthusiasm, encouragement and support. Dr. DeBenedictis is careful not to jump blindly on the current educational bandwagon. He is receptive to new ideas."

That's what his peers had to say about him, but what about the people he deals with directly: elementary school students?

"I am very proud of our principal for winning the award for outstanding principal," said Angel Dunn, a Robinson fifth-grader. "I am proud to be in his school."

Another fifth-grader, Paige Tully, had this to say: "Dr. D. has a great sense of humor and is great with kids. He is an awesome principal and a good friend."

"Dr. D. is a very nice person, and we are honored to have him be elected for the best principal of Massachusetts," added Jennifer Morawiak.

Outside of school, Dr. DeBenedictis has taken on a number of civic responsibilities in Andover. Since 1980 he has been chairman of the Andover Community Services Committee, which is responsible for programs in recreation, adult education, mental health, elder affairs and cultural enrichment. He is past chairman of the Andover Child Care Study Committee and member of the Andover Master Plan Committee for Community Development.

Dr. Kenneth DeBenedictis

He was an Andover American Field Services interviewing team member from 1979 to '81. He is a lecturer at St. Augustine Church.

He and his wife, Susan, have three sons.
